RETRIBUTION CAME SWIFTLY

Fear of Exposure Drives a Man to Murder and Suicide.

MISS HALE AVENGED

Robert J. Hale Kills His Wife and Himself After Writing Letter of Confession.

DISCOVERY WAS INEVITABLE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.

Following closely on the death of Margaret Hale, a girl employed in the government printing office, at a sanitarium in Brentwood, Robert J. Hale, also an employe of the government printing office, this morning shot and killed his wife and then committed suicide. Dr. Joseph C. Ohlendorf, head of the Brentwood sanitarium, was arrested last night on the charge of murder after the autopsy held over the body of the dead girl indicated malpractice. Robert Hale, the suicide, committed his crime after reading this news in the morning papers. He left letters plainly indicating his responsibility for the girl's death.

Hale left two letters on a table in his room, one open and unaddressed and one sealed and addressed to his wife, which indicated that he he had at first not intended to take her life. The second letter reads as follows:

"I have disgraced myself. I have disgraced my wife—the dearest, best and most noble woman in the world. I write this that all may know that she was not to blame in any way, shape or manner for my perfidy. She was too grand, too noble and too honorable, and if I had done as she always wanted me to, the end would not be as it is, death and disgrace for me."

The bodies of Hale and his wife were discovered in their apartments this morning by James Ray, a lodger in the same house. A morning newspaper lying open on the table, indicated that Hale had been out early and read the account of Dr. Ohlendorf's arrest and the coming inquest which was held today at Hyattsville. At the boarding house in which Margaret Hale had lived in Washington it is said that Robert Hale was the only gentleman caller she ever had. She introduced him as her cousin.

A message from the dead girl's sister asking that the body be sent home and requesting an investigation into her death put detectives on the case. Robert Hale came to Washington 15 years ago from Scranton, Pa., and since living here acquired considerable property. When he was interviewed by detectives last Tuesday he admitted that he knew the dead girl but denied the relationship alleged.

TO FORTIFY OUR HAWAIIAN NAVAL BASE

HONOLULU, Nov. 26.—Major General MacArthur, who has arrived here to study the military situation in the Hawaiian islands, says that the main feature of the defenses of the territory is the protection of the naval station at Pearl Harbor.

He advocates a reduction of the forces at Honolulu and declares that the occupation of the other islands is not an important matter from a military standpoint, while Pearl Harbor is maintained as a strong defensive position.

ROMANS DEMONSTRATE AGAINST CONSULATE

Austria's Prohibition of an Italian University Causes Riotous Times in Italian Cities—Austrian Embassy Has Police Protection.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Rome, Nov. 26.—The anti-Austrian demonstrations are assuming a grave character and the government has stopped the delivery of all telegrams sent in cipher. All over Rome the cry is "Down with Francis Joseph; let us break the triple alliance." At the university the Austrian flag was burned amid wild scenes of enthusiasm.

At Genoa the demonstrators succeeded in reaching the Austrian consulate where they shouted the most hostile cries.

Demonstrations against Austria resulting from the prohibition by the Austrian government of the institution of a free Italian university at Innsbruck was continued throughout Rome today, but were broken up by the police, who gathered in large numbers, especially around the Austrian embassy and the Austrian consulate, against which the chief efforts of the demonstrators were directed.

The crowds even invaded the public promenade in the gardens of the Pincio and compelled the band to play the royal march which was greeted with great applause.

At the university the students to the number of about 1,000 held an indignation meeting and decided to make a demonstration in the streets of the city. The police were prepared for this, however, and as soon as the students emerged they were attacked and compelled to reenter the university.

The students showed their indignation by breaking the windows and furniture of the class rooms. The authorities have decided to close the university until order has been restored.

An anti-Austrian demonstration was held at Turin, where the demonstrators rang the bells of the university, broke the windows, the benches and exploded firecrackers, producing a slight panic. Similar demonstrations were held at Milan, Parma, Padua and Genoa.

The government has determined to suppress these demonstrations at any cost, as it wishes to avoid complaint from the Austrian government.

CHEERS AND TEARS WELCOME CEDRIC

White Star Liner Reported Lost Arrives Safely at New York.

MRS. THAW GREETS COUNTESS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.

Opposite Sandy Hook, when the passengers of the Cedric crowded the rail to see the agile pilot come aboard this afternoon, they were amused by his broad grin.

"For two days the whole world has been fearing you were all at the bottom of the sea," he explained as soon as he reached the deck.

When the Cedric's gangplank was lowered at 5:40 o'clock the 300 friends and relatives of those on board lifted their voices in one great exultant cheer. There were tears mingled with kisses when the passengers came off the steamer. The earl of Yarmouth and his wife, formerly Miss Thaw of Pittsburgh, were among the first to land. The countess was ill with influenza during the voyage and was under the care of the ship's surgeon. They were greeted by Mrs. Thaw and hurried from the pier after a short conference with the customs officials. The earl said they would stay at the Holland house tonight and go tomorrow to Pittsburgh.

The Cedric passed Nantucket lightship at 3:05 o'clock this morning, going at her usual speed and apparently in no distress whatever. As she is not equipped with wireless apparatus, however, she could neither receive nor send a communication.

Among those on the steamer were many distinguished persons, including Judge Gray of Delaware, a possible Democratic nominee for president; Frederick Roosevelt Scovel, a cousin of President Roosevelt; Mr. James H. Gill and Gen. Derussy and wife.

BOOM FOR CANNON FOR SECOND PLACE

Idea Is to Clinch Illinois for Republican Ticket by Nominating Him.

PEOPLE HAVE FAITH IN HIM

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.

In the face of violent and characteristic protests from "Uncle Joe" himself a movement booming him for the 1904 vice presidential nomination was launched here today.

For 10 days or more the boom has been quietly fomenting. As the probability of there being any organized opposition to Mr. Roosevelt's nomination has been more and more vigorously denied, the limelight has shifted to the second place on the ticket. It appears that the boom for Mr. Cannon originated about the time of the visit paid Washington recently by Gov. Durbin of Indiana, and may be partly attributed to the calm assurance with which Ohio and Indiana seemed to take it for granted that the second place on the ticket would be handed over to one of the two states. The principal point argued in favor of Mr. Cannon's nomination, however, is the strength that it would give the national ticket. Mr. Cannon's friends declare that since he took the reins of the speakership in his hands a wave of sympathy and approval has been aroused all over the land by his homely philosophy and iron-clad integrity.

The rather unsettled state of affairs in the state of Illinois is also argued as a reason for the selection of Mr. Cannon. The recent labor troubles, the political situation and the presence of Carter Harrison as possible Democratic presidential timber cause Republican leaders to look at the state with anxious eyes. Because of the uncertain conditions in New York state they think it would be wise to clinch Illinois for the national ticket by the nomination of "Uncle Joe," one of its favorite sons. It would be comforting to the Republicans to count certainly on the state of Illinois in the coming election.

The vice presidential talk has been centering pretty strong about Myron T. Herrick and Senator Fairbanks, but some Republicans are beginning to think it would be wiser to pick a man from one of the states which has not such a sure place Ohio and Indiana. They think it will be in the safe Republican column as have well to look out for the interests of Illinois, New Jersey or New England.

Spaniards Object to Sending Cruiser for America's Fair

MADRID, Nov. 26.—During the debate on the naval budget in the chamber today the opposition renewed its protests against the appropriation for sending the Spanish cruiser Rio de la Plata to New Orleans in connection with the St. Louis exposition.

The minister of marine defended the budget, particularly pointing out the necessity for Spain having a good fleet in view of the situation in Morocco, not for the purpose of mixing up in the affairs of other powers, but for the defense of Spanish rights.

JAPAN MAY BE SWEPT TO WAR

Russia Playing for Time While Island Nation Is Ready.

CZAR ADDS TO FLEET

Russians Have Planned Thousand Mile Railroad from Siberia to Peking.

DOWAGER EMPRESS WORRIED

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Nov. 26.—Statesmen are apprehensive of what will happen when the Japanese diet meets on December 6 if in the meantime there has not been an agreement reached between Russia and Japan, and this seems highly improbable. That Russia is playing for time to add to her military and naval strength in the far east is the general opinion held in Japan and it is in this feeling that the danger lies. Japan is as ready to fight now as she ever will be. Her entire military and naval force can be put on a war footing without a moment's delay, while Russia will be much stronger in Manchurian waters three or six months from now than she is at present.

Unless, therefore, those Japanese statesmen who dread war and seek to avoid it can go before the diet with positive and satisfactory assurances from Russia that she does not intend to encroach on Korea, the war party will have so powerful a weapon that it is feared they will be able to sweep the country into a war without delay.

Nobody here believes that Russia will give such assurances as Japan demands, as to the integrity of Korea. The trend of Russian policy in the far east is towards a Pacific seacoast which is free of ice the year round, just as her policy in the near east is to have Constantinople and to control the eastern entrance of the Mediterranean, and history shows that Russian policy is immutable. She is willing to fight for her object, but prefers to gain it without fighting if possible and in any event she wants to decide when the time to fight comes.

Japan realizes that her dreams of becoming a dominant factor in Asia would be irretrievably blasted in case Russia secures a foothold in Korea and shuts her off from the mainland, and here the ambitions of the two powers clash. That war eventually is a certainty is not doubted in circles well informed on far eastern affairs and the opinion is growing that it cannot much longer be delayed.

No specific information has been received here concerning the reported reoccupation of Hai Cheng, 30 miles north of New Chwang, by Russian troops, but it is regarded as quite probable. The town is close to the New Chwang railroad. It is explained that the whole country is occupied by Russian troops for the purpose of protecting the railroad workmen and the Chinese population from the depredations of robbers.

The Novoe Vreiya in a recent article declared that if the British succeed in carrying out their plans Thibet will be in their hands, as they will always be in a position to threaten Lhassa, and if they gain control of the Holy Land of Thibet 500,000,000 of Buddhists will regard Great Britain as being the most powerful country in the world.

The Novoe Vremya adds: "While it is impossible for the weak Thibetans to prevent the British crossing the Himalayas, it is quite possible for others to compel the British to stop by creating a slight diversion in some direction disagreeable to the British politicians."

TOKYO, Nov. 4.—It is stated in mandarin circles that the empress dowager is finding her days and nights harassed by the Manchurian question and the Kuang Si crisis. Womanlike, she has reported to the "gods" for help. She lately made a vow before the Buddha of Wanshoushan temple that if the affairs of the abovenamed provinces be satisfactorily settled by next November she would expend the entire money contributions promised by the high officers of the crown of Peking and the provinces, estimated at 8,000,000 taels, for the celebration of her seventieth birthday anniversary next year upon building extra temples, beautifying the present ones, and in doing other good work that may be pleasing to the "gods."

GREAT DEPOSIT OF IRON FOUND IN SUPERIOR REGION

Philadelphia Engineer Reports the Discovery of 24-Foot Vein Containing 300,000,000 Tons of Finest Quality of Hard Red Hematite.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cleveland, Nov. 26.—G. W. Chance, a consulting engineer of Philadelphia, says that he has discovered the long sought for deposit Bessemer old range ore in the Lake Superior region. In a letter to the Cleveland Leader Mr. Chance says that a diamond drill, operated by a company in which he is interested, has found a large deposit, amounting to 300,000,000 tons, a short distance southwest of Fort Williams, which brings it close to the valuable deposits of lower grade ore which lie around and especially north and northeast of Duluth. The letter of Mr. Chance goes on to say that the vein which has been found is 24 feet thick and lies near the surface. It is of the best grade of hard red Hematite ore of the best Bessemer quality.

If this statement proves to be correct it will be one of the greatest discoveries of the age. The ore men in the Lake Superior territory have been hunting for a number of years to find a deposit of the best Bessemer ore in the Lake Superior territory. Some of the Cleveland firms have spent thousands of dollars in that search and other capitalists have pursued the same search. It has been feared since the searches of late have been fruitless that the deposits of this high grade old ore have been exhausted and this has made the efforts to find new supplies all the more earnest. Of late years the fear that the Old Range Bessemer was being exhausted has led the owners of these mines to hold steadily for higher prices, as it has been figured that at best the deposits and the supply will last but a comparatively few years longer. The iron men have taken this situation so seriously that plans are already being made for the melting of lower grade ores without Bessemer Old Range as a mixture and the furnaces have been remodeled with that end in view.

The discovery of such a vein of Old Range ore, however, would completely revolutionize the plans of the steel men for some years to come. The proportion of Old Range ore to the Mesaba or lower grade ores brought down the lakes now is about one to five. On the basis of the shipment of 25,000,000 tons a year a deposit of 300,000,000 tons would furnish a supply for about 12 years.

CAPITAL OF RUSSIA SUFFERS FROM FLOOD

Twenty Thousand Persons Driven Into the Streets Destitute. Czar Gives $5,000.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—The flood which has caused so much damage here was the biggest since 1824. The intense cold is causing much distress among the homeless and the dwellers in cellars. In the factory quarter 20,000 persons have been driven into the streets, many of them losing their all.

The authorities are doing everything in their power to relieve the sufferers and there have been few fatalities. A pathetic case was that of parents, hurrying home at the sound of warning guns, who found their children drowned. The destruction of property was heavy, especially at Cronstadt. The rafts and barges in the river were smashed and the live stock in the environs drowned.

The strangest freak of the flood occurred at the cemetery, where coffins were washed out of graves and floated away.

The czar has donated $5,000 in aid of those who have been reduced to destitution by the floods.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT GOES TO GOTHAM TODAY

Will Be in New York to Attend the Funeral of His Uncle, James K. Gracie.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—President Roosevelt will be in New York a few hours tomorrow. He is coming to attend the funeral of his uncle, the late James K. Gracie. He will arrive on a special railroad train which will reach Jersey City about 7 o'clock in the morning. Upon reaching New York the president will be driven to the home of his brother-in-law, Douglas Robinson, on Madison avenue, from whence he will go to the church.

President Roosevelt is expected to return to Washington immediately after the obsequies.

AUTO RECORD BROKEN BY W. K. VANDERBILT JR.

F. A. Laroche Meets With Serious Accident in Rock Hill Climbing Course.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., made a new record with his 30-horse power gasoline automobile today over the Eagle Rock hill-climbing course, at Orange, N. J., and F. A. Laroche, in a 40-horse power machine going a mile a minute, crashed over a precipice on the mountain side. He escaped serious injury.

These spectacular events occurred at the third annual contest given under the auspices of the Automobile Club of New Jersey. Mr. Vanderbilt's time was 1:36⅘. The best previous record for gasoline vehicles was 2:45, made by O. P. Nestman last year, and for steam vehicles, 2:48, made by W. J. Stewart two years ago.

In the seventh event Mr. Laroche, experienced the accident that came near costing him his life. In the car with him was A. J. Packard, timing. After half the distance had been covered Mr. Laroche turned on more power in going down an incline. Ahead was a sharp curve leading to a steep ascent. So fast did the car shoot along that the operator lost control of it and at the curve it crashed over a precipice.

Mr. Packard was thrown headlong over a fence a few yards away, but Mr. Laroche was pinioned under the vehicle, as it turned over, and partially lost consciousness. Speedily recovering and finding himself uninjured, Mr. Packard rushed to the assistance of his friend. The wheels of the machine were still revolving at a speed of a mile a minute. He turned off the power and extricated Mr. Laroche from his perilous situation.

Beyond the shaking up Mr. Laroche's injury was only a cut four inches long on the calf of his left leg. His machine was repaired in time to compete in a later event of the meet.

Smathers Will Make World Tour in Auto.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Elmer E. Smathers, the millionaire broker and race horse owner, is to tour the world in an automobile. He will make the trip in a specially-constructed machine handled by a chauffeur who is a Harvard graduate. Mr. Smathers and his friends will leave New York on January 16.

SWITZERLAND ARRESTS AND MAY EXPEL DANGEROUS ANARCHISTS

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND, Nov. 26.—By order of the federal authorities the police have arrested two anarchists, Bourtzeff and Krakoff, who have been living for some time in Switzerland and editing an Anarchist paper.

Bourtzeff originally came here from Siberia, where he had been already imprisoned for advocating violent anarchist measures. Bourtzeff and Krakoff probably will be conducted to the frontier and expelled from Switzerland.

Timers—Henry Butterfield for State Blaine Aiken for W. & J. Linesmen—Robert Hamilton for State, Dr. L. P. Kirschner for W. & J. Time—25-minute halves.

Six thousand people at Exposition park yesterday afternoon saw the Washington and Jefferson football eleven clearly and very cleanly outplayed by the Pennsylvania State college team. The score of 22 to 0 was piled up by State in a series of well-executed plays, free of fumbles, that showed how unequal to the contest were the wearers of the red and black.

There was but once that W. & J. had even the faintest show of scoring, and then, just before the second half closed, they worked the blue and white line by a series of heavy plunges until they got the ball within a yard of the goal line. Time was called, but Referee Ed. Young did not see the signal and when his attention was finally attracted the ball was over the line but, of course, the touchdown was not credited.

It was a saddened crowd that went back to Washington last night for the rooters for W. and J. were confident that State's scalp would dangle from the red and black belt when the game was over. But, the first scrimmage with the pigskin in State's possession showed what weaklings the red and black boys were.

Repeatedly State bored through their line like an auger in the softest pine, again and again when a line plunge was considered advisable the State ends worked creditable gains. W. and J. seemed to lose its knowledge of how to play the game intelligently and tackled wildly, each play showing the team to be growing feeble; while State, quick and snappy, played a heady game from the time of the first kick-off.

Too Fast for W. & J.

Sutter, the W. and J. center, was the only man who seemed to be in the game all the time, and although he was unable to hold the arrow-like plunges of State, he generally managed to get his man to the ground when he got in the running. He always snapped the ball in good shape, but his backs seemed glued to the ground when it came to putting the ball into play.

It is seldom games are played without a number of sensational individual plays, but yesterday's contest was devoid of this with but one exception. Forkum, State's big fullback, whom W. and J. seemed unable to get down on the ground when they tackled, got the ball and ran with it for 45 yards, the red and black sweater wearers trailing after like a game of fox and geese. It was snowing heavily at the time, and by bucking, dodging and jumping, the gritty fullback took the ball deep into the Washington's territory. A series of well-directed plays upon the part of the Blue and White followed this sensational run, and a touchdown and goal resulted. At the close of the first half the score was 11-0.

Between the halves the State College Cadet band paraded the gridiron playing inspiring airs, much to the amusement of the chilled but enthusiastic crowd. W. and J. had a band, too, and it butted in on the field but marched around the side lines. Both aggregations got all the applause the rooters of the respective sides they represented would muster up, and when the teams appeared for the second half the musicians retired to the grandstand.

A Sensational Finish.

In 10 minutes' play of the second half State scored another touchdown and goal. W. and J. made a feeble rally, but the Blue and White team repeatedly drilled the line with openings large enough to send an electric car through. For offside play Referee Young had to penalize State several times, but these losses of 10 and 20 yards were soon made up.

Again the ball was dragged over the W. and J. goal line and then the Red and Black made a rally that terminated in as an exciting finish as has ever been seen upon a local gridiron. They got the ball when it was well in their territory and began a series of mass plays that were always good for small gains.

Parree and Beisecker, the two State ends, made several remarkable plays behind the red and black line, pulling down the backs before they could get the ball into play, but W. and J. plunged into the State line so desperately that it had to give way. Again and again the line was hit for gains, and slowly the ball was worked to the State goal.

The rooters were frenzied, but unwaveringly State met each onslaught. It was the best offensive and defensive work that has been seen here this year, but weight told in each play and the ball was finally put within one yard of the goal and the call of time alone saved State being scored against.

The clever team work displayed by State's eleven was a distinct feature and in strong contrast with the stumbling work of Wash-Jeff. There was never a play that the entire line and quite team was not in, while the work of the ends was great indeed. They were down the field like a flash and on every punt except one the Wash.-Jeff. man who took the ball was nailed in his tracks. Forkum was, of course, the star, and his line plunging and running with the ball has seldom been equaled on a local gridiron. The victory went to State because its team deserved to win, the Wash-Jeff. eleven being outplayed at every stage of the game.

The Story of the Game.

The game was scheduled to start at 2:30 and the crowd was on hand in plenty of time but the teams were a bit late in reaching the park and it was 2:45 before Referee Ed Young's whistle brought the players into action. Captain Hays had won the toss for Wash.-Jeff., and he decided to defend the east goal. This was an advantage for the red and black boys as the field slants just a little and it is much harder to work the ball east than west. Prowitt kicked off for Wash.-Jeff. and the ball was secured by Belsecker who advanced it 15 yards before he was brought down.

The ball was worked to the center of the field by a series of line plays where State lost it on a fumble. Two trys at the line convinced the Wash.-Jeff captain that his men were not equal to the task and the oval was punted. Then State began a march down the field by means of a series of line plunges and just 10 minutes after the start of play Forkum, the husky fullback, shot over the line for State's first touchdown. Forkum failed at goal and the score was State 5, Wash.-Jeff. 0, while State's band played "Didn't We Ramble."

State then kicked to Wash.-Jeff. and the ball was run back only five yards. Line bucks were tried again but the State line could not be budged an inch and Wash.-Jeff. was forced to kick. Elder secured the punt but fumbled and after recovering the ball made a 10-yard gain. Whitworth skirted the right end for 15 yards but on the next play State penalized 20 yards for holding in the line. State then punted and it was Wash.-Jeff's ball but being unable to gain, Prowitt punted the ball almost to the center of the field.

The Fake Kick Worked Well.

On the next line-up State worked the old fake kick and it resulted in the only spectacular run of the game. Forkum had dropped back and when the ball was passed to him he tucked it under his arm and started down the field amid the wild cheers of the State rooters. Forkum's run was for 45 yards and he placed the ball on Wash.-Jeff's 10-yard line, from which point Captain Whitworth carried it over for State's second tuchdown and Forkum kicked the goal, making the score 11 to 0 in State's favor. The half ended a few minutes later. In this half Wash.-Jeff. only made two downs and both of these were secured on short end runs.

The second half was where there was some desperate playing on the part of the Washington county boys, but all to no purpose. During this half the Wash.-Jeff. coaches were forced to make numerous changes and subs were sent in for regulars who were exhausted. At least five changes were made and that the changes worked well was shown by the fact that the red and black team then made its best showing of the game. The half started off with the State boys carrying everything before them and there was no stopping their line plunges. Holes were opened in the Wash.-Jeff. line big enough to let a half dozen players through and in less than 10 minutes State had scored its third touchdown, Forkum turning the trick and to make good he kicked the goal. The score was State 17, Wash.-Jeff. 0.

Then followed another romp down the field on the part of State and in a very short time there was another touchdown with left halfback Yardley as its sponsor and this time Forkum missed the goal and the score stood 22 to 0 in State's favor. After this play the changes in the Wash.-Jeff. team were made and they worked so well that had there been only 10 more seconds to play the red and black would have undoubtedly scored a touchdown and thus have saved itself the ignominy of a shutout.

So Near and Yet So Far.

After the next kick off Wash.-Jeff. worked the ball down into State's territory and from the 40-yard line a goal from field was tried but it proved a rank failure. The kick, however, was fumbled and it was State's ball on its own 5-yard line. Forkum at once punted out and Brooks, who got the ball, made a fine run of 15 yards. Here the Wash.-Jeff. rooters cut loose, it being their only chance of the game.

This rallying cry seemed to infuse new life into the red and black boys and they went at that State line with an energy worthy of cause. The ball was slowly but surely advanced toward the State goal line and the cheers of the Washington county rooters could be heard for blocks. Just behind the State goal was the band from that college and the bass drummer was pounding away for dear life. The ball was only one yard from State's goal line and there was a look of determination on the face of every player.

On more try and there was a tremendous crush of players against each other. The ball was over all right but the score did not count as the time limit had expired just as the ball was put into play for that last desperate charge and the whistle had blown, but it was not heard in the great noise around the goal posts. It was a mighty close call for State and a pity for Wash.-Jeff., but that is part of the game.

NATIONAL AIRS SUNG.

Music Was a Feature at Second Presbyterian Church's Thanksgiving Services.

The Second Presbyterian church was crowded at both services yesterday. The national airs of various nations were sung by natives in the morning, those of Russia, led by Rev. Vaclav Losa and four Russian musicians; of Poland led by Prof. Blassowedich of Warsaw, and of Bohemia, sung by a trio of Bohemian students, being especially well rendered. Pastor S. Edward Young spoke upon "The Magic of Our Prosperity," dwelling particularly upon the military history. In part he said:

Next to the Almighty, does not the American soldier deserve thanksgiving? Praise all our other citizens and you have left the fact that without our citizen soldier there could have been no American republic in 1776. It would have been destroyed in 1812 and split in twain in 1861. Our soldiers' pluck has ever been of the type Gen. Zachary Taylor displayed the day of the battle of Buena Vista, of whom the Mexican Gen. Santa Anna said: 'I whipped Gen. Taylor twice that day, but the fool Yankee didn't have sense enough to know when he was whipped.'

Western Pennsylvania has afforded the whole world an illustration unsurpassed in modern times of the patriot who can bear arms and fight as no mere soldier could when war is raging, and after peace is back can make successful any avocation. To love God, to love country, to make money, too, have been our duties here. Emphasize the great fact it is that the American soldier has never surrendered to any other than an American soldier. The Bible he read, the God he worshiped, made that soldier.

THREATS MADE TO GO ON STRIKE

Street Car Employes Promise Drastic Measures If Conditions Are Not Changed.

WELL-ATTENDED MEETING HELD

The street railway employes of Pittsburgh threaten to go on strike unless the Pittsburgh Railways Company recognizes them by December 3. This was practically decided upon at a meeting last night in Arnfeld's hall, No. 1119 Penn avenue. It was a special meeting called to hear a report of the executive board, which made an unsuccessful effort to adjust the difficulties between the company and the men.

The board presented a set of recommendations for the men to consider. They were unanimously adopted and in part are as follows:

During the last six months there have been over 700 employes discharged apparently for belonging to a labor union.

The men are not placed in the proper positions according to the rules of the company regarding promotion, and are discharged for making complaint therefor after being invited to do so.

The cars are poorly equipped and employes upon some divisions are compelled to furnish themselves equipments, such as brooms, etc., to keep their cars in the proper condition.

The company has been increasing the three-turn system, thereby lengthening the hours of work.

The company is constantly employing new and inexperienced men to operate cars—these persons invariably being non-union men—which makes it harder for the entire system to give good service, as constant threats and fear have permeated the entire force of employes.

During the last ten days an effort was made and a promise secured from President Callery that a change would be made in the schedules, adopting as near as possible the two-turn system, which has proven practicable in Toledo, Detroit, Rochester, N. Y.; New Orleans, East Liverpool, O., New Castle, Pa., and many other cities. In the face of this promise of President Callery many schedules are now being changed, creating a three-turn system, which impairs the service and makes runs that are impossible to be completed in less than 18 hours. An employe reporting at 5 a. m. will work until 10 or 12 a. m., lays off during the afternoon and goes to work in the evening and continues to midnight.

Our executive committee unsuccessfully endeavored on numerous occasions last week to get another conference with President Callery for the purpose of an amicable adjustment of these grievances and calling his attention to the recent hardships being imposed upon the public and the employes.

The members of Division No. 85, of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, in regular meeting assembled, reaffirm in unmistakable language our determination to have the present unjust conditions changed, and we again instruct our executive committee to endeavor to secure a conference with President Callery. This meeting will adjourn to meet again in continuous session on Thursday evening, December 3—or sooner if the executive committee deems it expedient—to learn of what success they have met, and if a satisfactory settlement is not in progress at that time, notice is hereby given the public that more drastic measures may be resorted to, because of the unrest among the employes, nine-tenths of whom are now members of this organization.

Division 85, A. A. of S. and E. R. E. of A.

Fisher had accosted a handsomely gowned woman who appealed to Guenther for protection.

At the morning hearing the evidence was not sufficient to convict and a postponement was granted until the defendant could be produced. This was done at the afternoon hearing. The Judge did not go into details but simply asked the woman to identify the prisoner, which she did. Fisher was fined $10 and costs. He gave his address as Pittsburgh, and his occupation as an agent.

NEW REPUBLIC ACTS QUICKLY

Junta Decides to Ratify the Treaty Upon Its Arrival at Panama.

THERE WILL BE NO CHANGES

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Panama, Nov. 26.—The junta, composed of Jose Agustin Arango, Tomas Arias and Manuel Espinosa, held a meeting at 10 o'clock this morning, all the ministers of state and councillors being present, and unanimously decided to ratify the canal treaty as soon as it is received here and authorize Minister Bunau-Varilla officially to communicate the junta's decision to the United States government.

The decision of the junta was received with great joy throughout the isthmus without distinction of parties or classes. Rear Admirals Walker and Glass have been informed of the action taken by the junta.

El Cronista, an old newspaper of the conservative school, publishes a long article on the career of Dr. Manuel Amador, minister of finance of the republic of Panama, in which it is proclaimed that the doctor is the only possible candidate for the presidency of the republic.

El Lepiz, a paper which always had advocated the doctrine of the Liberal party, publishes an article tonight on the same subject and along the same lines. Isthmians hail Dr. Amador as the benefactor of Panama, the principal factor in the work for independence, a thorough patriot, a great administrator and honest and upright in all his dealings.

Amador the Favorite Son.

Municipalities throughout the isthmian territory continue to pass resolutions declaring that Dr. Amador is the "favorite son of the republic."

It is predicted that Dr. Amador will be elected the first president of the republic by an overwhelming majority.

COLON, Nov. 26.—The text of the decree closing the ports of the department of Bolivar reached here today. It prohibits until further notice all traffic or business between the port in that department and the "rebel department" of Panama and says:

"The department of Panama having declared itself free and independent and having taken up arms against the national government in an effort to destroy Colombian integrity, dignity and honor, Colombia requires the employment of such measures as are indispensable for the punishment and suppression of the rebels.

"The act closing the ports mentioned is taken by the government of Bolivar independent of the Bogota government. Bolivar can do all she considers necessary for the defense of the state, and among the measures which the legitimate ends of the war warrant is the depriving of the enemy of resources and the free traffic of commerce."

Colombians Grow Spiteful.

The decree provides also that neutral vessels having called at Panamanian ports shall be refused admission to ports of Bolivar.

The royal mail steamer Trent returned here today from ports on the coast. She landed some of the Bolivarian commissioners at Savinalla November 21, shortly after the arrival of the decree closing that port to vessels to and from Colon was published, and sailed thence for Cartagena, where she was only allowed to communicate with the shore because she had the Cartagena commissioners from Colon on board.

The authorities refused to clear the Trent for Colon, but suggested that she clear for port Limon, Costa Rica, which the Trent accepted, knowing there would be no difficulties at Colon. No mails, passengers or freight from Savanilla or Cartagena destined for Colon were permitted to be taken on board.

More Commissioners Arrive.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Among the passengers who arrived today on board the steamer Adirondack from Savanilla was Francisco DeF. Manotas, a lawyer, sent by the republic of Colombia to the United States in relation to canal affairs. He went direct to Washington.

Mr. Manotas said he would not tell just what action would be taken to obtain a settlement of the Panama situation more favorable to Colombia, as his instructions had not yet reached him, and he had yet to confer with his fellow commissioners, Gen. Dionisio Jiminez, Dr. Pedro R. Valez, and Dr. Antonio R. Blanco, who arrived from Colombia via New Orleans some days ago. They bear the sealed instructions from the government at Bogota. He denied the report that Colombia was now desperate, that she would seek annexation to Panama and move the capital to Panama.

"Colombia does not want to make war on Panama. She wishes to make arrangements looking toward a settlement. She wishes to regain Panama, and if not war is probable. To say whether she will make war is a very hard question to answer. War with the United States is not to be considered.

"The United States has caused all the trouble in Panama. It is she who has made the republic of Panama, and she ought not to prevent the landing of our troops.

Gen. Reyes at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26.—Gen. Reyes, representing the government of Panama, who is on his way to Washington to intercede in behalf of his government in connection with the recognition of the republic of Panama, arrived here today on the steamer Beverly. He leaves for Washington tonight. Gen. Reyes is accompanied by Gen. Pedro Aspinal, Gen. George Holguin and Gen. L. Cabalero. They boarded the Beverly at Port Limon and came direct to this city. Gen. Reyes and party did not go to any of the hotels. They drove to the Louisville & Nashville offices and bought tickets through to New York and made every effort to avoid publicity. The general had a satchel full of Colombian gold and paid for the tickets in coin of that republic.

Gen. Reyes speaks English perfectly, but declined to be interviewed. He said: "We do not wish to be quoted at this time. Our mission is a private one, and until we have reached Washington and discharged it, we do not care to discuss it."

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 26.—The people and government of Denmark approve of the United States' action in recognizing the republic of Panama, and a request for similar recognition from Denmark will undoubtedly be granted.

Pittsburgh Orchestra's Great House.

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—To the Pittsburgh orchestra and Victor Herbert belongs the credit for drawing out the greatest audience ever assembled in the memorial chapel of Woostar university tonight. Hundreds were turned away and many had to stand in the aisles. Every number was rapturously encored.

"A Country Girl."

This beautiful musical comedy that has won such high favor in London, New York and other large cities will be seen at the Alvin theater next week and will prove that the authorship still which fashioned the "Geisha" and "San Toy" is just as clever as it ever was. "A Country Girl" is the musical hit of recent years.

FRENCH TOAST ENGLAND'S KING

British Members of Parliament Cordially Greeted by President Loubet.

UNCLE SAM IS REMEMBERED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Nov. 26.—The members of the British parliament who, with their wives and daughters, are returning the visit to London of French senators and deputies representing the international arbitration group, had a busy day. The most prominent of the parliamentarians were entertained by the leading deputies and the others by the staff of the Siecle. Visits to the senate and chamber of deputies followed and at 5 o'clock a reception was given at the Elysee, Baron D'Estournelles, DeConstant introducing the members and their ladies to President and Madame Loubet.

Replying to an address delivered by Lord Brassey, President Loubet expressed the great pleasure the visit of the members of parliament gave him and referred to the happiness he experienced during his recent visit to London. He said he hoped the example set by two great nations of western Europe in signing an arbitration treaty would be generally followed.

Tonight a great banquet was given at which M. M. Berthelot and Jaures were the principal speakers. M. Berthelot recalled the efforts of the two countries in the cause of freedom and strongly urged the adoption of a general system of arbitration. He said he rejoiced at the signing of the treaty between Great Britain and France and added:

"No doubt the United States will willingly join us."

Sir William Henry Houldsworth proposed the health of President Loubet and thanked the French people for the cordial welcome they had given the visitors.

Premier Combes made a speech in praise of international arbitration. He declared that the treaty between France and Great Britain had been ratified by the public opinion of the two countries and criticised whoever said that the limitations of the treaty rendered unimportant the essential act. These limitations, he said, were due only to the president. Minister Combes said it was the duty of the government to give the treaty in its existing form the sanction of experience. He had no doubt that it would result in spreading faith in arbitration and possibly the day was not far distant when both nations would agree to submit all differences, however unimportant, to arbitration.

In conclusion the premier said: "I propose the health of the sovereign to whom we owe it, Edward."

IDENTIFIED SLAYER WITH LAST BREATH

Dying Victim of Italian Bullet Recognizes Murderer Who Is Brought to the Death Bed.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ROCHESTER, PA., Nov. 26.—Samuel Hendrickson, who was shot in the abdomen last Tuesday evening as he emerged from the Grand opera house, died this afternoon at the Beaver County General hospital. The stomach and intestines were perforated in 10 places. Hendrickson was aged 20 years and employed at the plant of the National Glass Company.

Andrew Oliven, the Italian, who is alleged to have done the shooting, and who was tracked through the snow to his home the night of the shooting, is in jail. The charge of murder was preferred against Oliven by Acting Chief of Police William Doutt, who effected the capture. Shortly before the death of Hendrickson, the Italian was taken to the bedside by Officer Doutt. The dying man was scarcely able to speak aloud, but he promptly identified Oliven as the man who shot him. He whispered to the officer to take the man away.

The information was made against Oliven as soon as Hendrickson's death occurred. Officer Doutt went before Justice Charles W. Schropp and transferred the prisoner from the Rochester lockup to the jail.

O'Growney Society Organized in Glenwood and Textbooks Distributed.

Gaelic is to be studied in Pittsburgh and an attempt will be made to popularize the ancient language among residents of Irish birth or descent. Last night, under the auspices of Division No. 16, Ancient Order of Hibernians, the O'Growney Gaelic society of Pittsburgh was organized in Glenwood. The temporary officers are President Charles P. Monaghan of Baltimore and Secretary and Treasurer Michael O'Meally of Hazelwood.

Mr. O'Meally, Miss Mary Gallagher, John Haverty and Jeremiah McCarthy had been appointed a committee to secure a permanent meeting place and to purchase the necessary text books. The first consignment of these books were distributed last evening and more will be ready for distribution next Sunday at 3 p. m. at a meeting in the Young Men's Institute hall, rear of St. Stephen's parochial school, Hazelwood. At this meeting the first lesson in the Gaelic language will be given under the tuition of Mr. O'Meally.

FREE LECTURES POPULAR.

Over a thousand people heard the Rev. John A. Jayne deliver his patriotic address last night at the Carnegie Music hall, Allegheny, entitled, "Hail Columbia, or the Story of Old Glory." It was the second of the series of five lectures being given by the Observatory Hill Christian church, of which the Rev. Jayne is pastor. The talk was illustrated with 100 stereopticon views.

In addition to the lecture there was singing by the church choir in charge of J. E. Grier, with Mrs. W. J. Billings at the organ, and Arthur Meister, tenor, L. Foster Kline, an elocutionist, gave a few selections.

WANT PRIMARIES IN FOURTH WARD

Citizens Down There Will Ask for an Open Door on Nominations.

DONAHOE IS A CANDIDATE

Citizens leaders will be requested to allow primaries in the Fourth ward. Under the rules all nominations are made by the ward committees, but in this case there are more candidates than there are committeemen.

There are nine members of the Fourth ward Citizens committee and each day the crop of candidates for alderman and select and common councilmen is growing. The Citizens say that in the last two elections nearly all the voters in the ward have supported their ticket, so it will be fair to hold primaries. Permission to change the method of nominating has to be gotten from the Citizens city committee. It may be refused on the ground that it will be a dangerous precedent to establish.

Peter J. Donahoe, who was ousted from select council by the supreme court, has decided to be a candidate for re-election. He says that he has completed his five years' residence in the city and will be eligible to retain his seat if the ward returns him. There are a number of candidates beside him, some of them not being Citizens party men. The list follows: J. W. Ralston, A. T. Kurr, Charles Sweeney, and E. B. McCormick. John Gibbons is being discussed as an Orphans candidate. To get him out of the way Donahoe's friends want to run him for alderman.

Charles F. Anderson, the present alderman, is a candidate for re-election. Among those who are spoken of as his opponents are William McClelland, John Gibbons and Charles Walker.

John A. Martin will try to succeed himself in common council. His opponents are P. A. Munion, A. J. Brewer and Lindsey Kline.

The Twentieth ward Orphans may meet either tonight or tomorrow. The Fourteenth ward Orphans committee will hold a secret caucus tonight to discuss the make-up of their councilmanic ticket. Efforts will also be made tonight to organize a lodge of waifs in the Nineteenth ward.

SANG THE "HOLY CITY."

Oakland Choral Club Gave Annual Concert—Miss Hattie Jones Well Received.

Alfred R. Gaul's "Holy City" was given by the Oakland Choral club in the Welsh Presbyterian church, McDevitt place, last night as their fifth annual concert. The cantata was excellently rendered by the chorus of 60 trained voices under the leadership of William J. Jones, director of the club. The soloists were Miss Hattie Jones, soprano; Mrs. Edith H. Scott, contralto; Samuel T. Beddoe, tenor, and John R. Roberts, baritone, all well-known in musical circles. Miss Jones is but 16 years old and she took a solo part in a cantata for the first time last evening. Her rendering so pleased the audience that they insisted upon encores.

The opening chorus was a selection from the work of Dr. Joseph Parry, "Men of Harlech." The cantata was opened by an instrumental number by the Pittsburgh Orchestra club, which played the accompaniments in the choruses and solos. Miss Jones, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. W. J. Jones sang, unaccompanied, "Evermore Shall Be Light." The work of the soloists and chorus gave evidence of the faithful rehearsals and the audience, composed mostly of Welshmen, was highly pleased. The program included 22 numbers in addition to the opening chorus. J. H. Jones was pianist.

All available space in the building was occupied and another large crowd is expected at the church tomorrow night, when the performance will be repeated.

TRAVELERS SOCIAL CLUB.

Will Equip Rooms to Accommodate Business Representatives.

The Pennsylvania division of the United International Commercial Travelers proposes to open one of the finest social clubs in Pittsburgh. It has been agreed that the eastern and western Pennsylvania divisions consolidate for the purpose of strengthening the state branch of the organization. C. M. Faupel, national organizer, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday from Philadelphia and will at once make preparations to secure a building suitable for the club.

The organization has for its principal object sociability, to bring the travelers into contact oftener it is necessary to have a place of meeting, instead of trusting to the lobby of an hotel. At present only the headquarters of the association is used to meet acquaintances.

The new club is to be supplied with all kinds of literature, including the daily papers and magazines. If a suitable place can be secured a bowling alley and pool tables will be installed.

ROOSEVELT'S ACT WON WARM PRAISE

Prof. Richard Gottheil Addresses Congregation in the Eighth Street Temple.

PLEA FOR ZIONIST MOVEMENT

"Whether the Jews Shall Celebrate Thanksgiving and Why?" was the subject of an address delivered yesterday morning by Prof. Richard Gottheil of Columbia university before the congregation Rodeph Shalom in the Eighth Street temple. The speaker also dwelt on the Zionist movement.

During the afternoon Prof. Gottheil was tendered a reception by Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Guckenheimer of 1307 Western avenue, Allegheny, where he met a number of prominent Pittsburghers and the members of the Young Men's Hebrew association, before whom he spoke during the morning. The visitor left last night for New York.

After speaking of the festal day as one of thanks, he gave these reasons why the Jews should observe it: "Gratefully do we turn on this day to those Pilgrim Fathers of old who builded so well. It is to them, next to God Almighty, that we owe the stable foundation upon which this great commonwealth has been raised up. Saturated with the spirit of the Hebrew law-giver and the Jewish prophet, they stood for freedom and for worship; for freedom of action amongst themselves, but for bondage to a higher power and to exalted aims; and as long as this American people holds fast to these two world cables, so long will the glory of God descend upon the tabernacle. Was it simply fortuitous that a few days after Columbus' galley first espied the new land? Was it haphazard chance that directed the feet of the Spanish and Portugese exiles to take a hand in preparing in the wilderness a way for the Lord? Teuton and Slav, Celt and Dane, were to work side by side; and building with them, these first Jews were providing a home for their brethren to come. And to come they were in larger numbers than ever, Christian or Jew, could have dreamt of. It is therefore most proper that we Jews should celebrate this secular festival as grateful and thankful citizens of the United States."

But can our thanksgiving and our rejoicing be quite full and complete when we think not merely as Americans, but as Jews? Have we done in full measure of our duty to make a thanksgiving possible for the millions of other Jews who are still enthralled in the serfdom of a physical bondage, or for the still further millions who lie at the mercy of spiritual anarchy?

From this point the speaker branched into the Zionist movement, making a most earnest and learned plea. He referred to the offer of Great Britain to furnish a strip of land in East Africa. Prof. Gottheil declared this to be unsuited. In speaking of the movement he said:

Zionism is a great Jewish league ramifying with a thousand arms into every nook and corner of the globe; bringing together those who for whole centuries have been divided and raising them to the full consciousness of Jewish ideals. It means a return to Judaism. It is distinctly a traducement of modern Zionism to say that it is anti-religious because it puts other questions than the religious one in the immediate foreground, or because some of the leaders have wandered away from the synagogues.

Prof. Gottheil said the action of President Roosevelt in denouncing the Russian atrocities had endeared him to the Jews of his country, continuing:

As American citizens we commend most heartily the action of our president and his secretary of state in giving voice to the sentiments of honorable protest against the cruelties practiced upon the Jews in Roumania and Russia. Such protests, ineffectual as they have been, distinguished the chief magistrate who made them and dignify the people in whose name he has spoken.

In addition to his duties as professor of Semitic language at Columbus, Prof. Gottheil devotes much of his time towards furthering the Zionist movement. He is president of the American Federation of Zionists, an able writer and a fluent speaker.

BACK TO FARM WENT THOUSANDS

Trains Leaving Pittsburgh Passenger Stations Yesterday Carried Happy Crowds.

JOYOUS EVENT AMONG SLAVS

Pittsburgh's passenger stations gave evidence all day yesterday that the modern tendency for the country to move to the city is not strong enough to prevent the city going to the country for at least one day in the year. Visions of roast turkey, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie were quite sufficient to pack every railroad train leaving the stations, and the sale of the tickets at the windows made necessary a stop at every wayside station on the line of each road. It is estimated that not less than 50,000 persons, the bulk of them young men and women, left Pittsburgh yesterday and the day before on account of the holiday.

The lines west of Pittsburgh—members of the Central Passenger association—made this movement larger by granting the usual holiday rate of one and one-third fares for the round trip. East of Pittsburgh the Trunk Line Passenger association, one of the tightest pools in existence among railroads, refused to grant any reductions. The argument on this point is that they do not have to do it, and why should they?

Another large element in the crowds at the stations was the attendance from outside towns on the Washington and Jefferson-State college football game. Banners and other colors were to be seen on the trains arriving in the morning and on those leaving after the game had been finished.

There was one Thanksgiving crowd seen at a station that made those who were watching it feel the spirit of the day as much as any other event. At the Baltimore & Ohio's Water street station early in the afternoon there began to gather a crowd of Slavs. They got together in little groups and talked with excitement and evident pleasure over something that was about to take place. All afternoon the crowd grew, until at 5 o'clock it filled the outer concourse of the station, and many were unable to come closer than the carriage way in front of the building. At 5:30 o'clock there pulled into the station a great immigrant train, and fully two-thirds of those on board were women.

There were short women and tall women, large women and small. There were blondes, brunettes, and indescribables. There were all sorts; but for each of them there was at least one man waiting, and the welcome was not made the less hearty on account of the presence of a large crowd who watched the arrivals. Thanksgiving dinners were in order in a good many families last evening on account of these arrivals, although there was probably little reference to the president's proclamation in the eating of the happy meal.

THOUSANDS OWE THEIR HEALTH TO SWAMP-ROOT

What This Wonderful New Discovery Will Do for You.

I HEARTILY ENDORSE SWAMP-ROOT

I have tried so many remedies without their having benefited me that I was about discouraged but in a few days after taking your wonderful Swamp-Root I began to feel better.

MRS. A. L. WALKER

I was out of health and run down generally; had no appetite, was dizzy and suffered with headache most of the time. I did not know that my kidneys were the cause of my trouble, but somehow felt they might be, and I began taking Swamp-Root, as above stated. There is such a pleasant taste to Swamp-Root, and it goes right to the spot and drives disease out of the system. It has cured me, and I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers. Gratefully yours,

MRS. A. L. WALKER.
46 West Linden St., Atlanta, Ga.

Are you as well, strong and vigorous as you used to be? Are you sometimes discouraged, and think you'll never be any better?

Can you tell the cause of your trouble, or what makes you sick?

Do you know that about nine-tenths of all sickness is caused by kidney trouble?

Have you ever stopped to think that your kidneys may be the cause of your poor health?

Most people do not realize how much work the kidneys are required to do every day.

Every drop of blood in the body must pass through and be filtered by the kidneys thousands of times every day.

How can your kidneys do their work well if they are weak or deranged?

Stop and think of it for a moment! Do you realize the importance—nay, the vital necessity, of keeping the kidneys in order?

When you are sick, then, no matter what you think the name of your disease is, the first thing you should do is to afford aid to your kidneys.

In taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that has ever been discovered.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is purely vegetable, pleasant to take, and cures when other prescriptions and medicines fail.

SWAMP-ROOT COMPLETELY CURED ME

About a year ago I was suffering from what I supposed was rheumatism. I became so bad that I could hardly get on my feet from a sitting position. I lost in weight from 156 to 145 pounds. I tried different kinds of medicine but received little or no help. I had no idea my kidneys were affected, however, I thought I would try Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and see what the effect would be. I bought two large bottles and they have completely cured me. Most sincerely yours,

WM. M. PARTCH.

The Christmns of 1903.

With a store double in size over that of last Christmas stocked with every conceivable gift thing—the practical and novel, as well as the ornamental and novel—why should it not be a vast headquarters for Christmast shoppers?

As Christmas buying will begin immediately we invite you to take a trip with our buyers who go to Europe—thus you will be better able to comprehend the untiring energy we put forth, the thousands of miles traveled, to gather the most exclusive things for Christmas.

Before starting, let us say we go to Europe, not for the cheap things, the baubles (they make them over there in quantities and they are brought to this country in quantities), but for the best Christmas goods of every kind, the exclusive things that seldom reach Pittsburgh except through this store.

With our buyer of Silverware, Jewelry, Leather Novelties and kindred goods, you will go to Berlin, Leipzig, Dresden, Gablonz, Praugue, Vienna, Munich, Stuttgart, Nuremberg, Pforzheim, Frankfort-on-Main, Hanau, Offenbach, Manz, Cologne, Paris and London.

Our buyer of fine Chinas, Glassware and Bric-a-Brac will take you with him to Berlin, Meissen, Dresden, Teplitz, Turn-Teplitz, Bonn, Carlsbad, Halda, Vienna, Buda-Pest, Munich, Nuremberg, Frankfort-on-Main, Lucerne, Zurich, Paris, London and all through the mountain regions of Bohemia, Silicia and Thuringia.

Our buyer of real Lace Handkerchiefs will ask you to accompany him to Brussels, and you can help him select dainty specimens in both Lace Handkerchiefs and Lace Berthas.

You can accompany our buyer of Linen Handkerchiefs to Belfast, Lucerne, Paris, Brussels, St. Gall and Appenzell, and we are willing to wager something pretty that you will be almost distracted over the myriad of lace trimmed handkerchiefs that you will see in your travels.

For our finest specimens of Kid Gloves, our buyer will show you through the factories of Grenoble, Munich, Berlin and Paris.

As for Toys, you will have to put up with some discomfort, for our representative will take you into the peasant homes in the Thuringen district of the Black Forest, into the little hamlets that surround Berlin, and after that you will go with him to Vienna, Sonneberg, Stuttgart and Paris.

As you have been after Christmas novelties we will not ask you to accompany our buyers on their trips through Europe for everyday things, found here the year round—the silks and dress goods, the lace curtains and upholstery goods, the lingerie, the dress trimmings and buttons, the embroideries and laces, nor shall we ask you to go to the Orient with our buyer of Oriental rugs.

After finishing such an itinerary you will come back home well satisfied that this store is well deserving of its prominence as the leading store of Greater Pittsburg, and the one that imparts more largely than all the other stores put together.

And, now, if you please, hints of Christmas.

Today We Have a General Opening of Toys, and while most of the toys have been ready for a fortnight back, and have met with a great reception and unusually brisk selling, today we have a general opening, simply because every last line is completely ready.

In the Basement, East Store, thousands upon thousands of pretty things to delight the heart of the child, as well as to set grown-ups to looking backward.

It's a good thing for all of us to get back once in a while to our childish days.

To anyone wishing it, and sending us their address, will will mail them a copy of our large Toy Catalogue.

NOTE—The Christmas Tree Decorations will be ready today in the Toy Store.

Silks are always high in favor for Christmas Gifts, especially black silk for the present to elderly women. Before talking of black silks, however, let us call your special attention to several numbers in colored silks, admirable as a gift to matrons or to young ladies.

Just here let us say that all silks will be neatly boxed if requested.

Black Peau de Cygne, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 a yard.

Black Taffeta, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00 a yard.
Black Peau de Soie, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.50 a yard.

This morning we will place on special sale at our Umbrella counter, East Store, a lot of men's and women's Umbrellas at $3.00 each. These Umbrellas are remarkable for the excellent value you get at that figure.

The collection comprises Umbrellas of pure silk taffeta in colors and black, and tape edge black taffeta. The handles for men are Staghorn, Capehorn, trimmed natural and plain natural; for women, Silver Caps, Gold and Pearl, and Trimmed Horn.

This is a notably fine offer for Christmas umbrellas, and as the lot is not overly large early choice is advisable.

Men's Smoking Jackets are ready—good news! Women have already been asking for them. Unlined coats of plaid back cloth are still the favorite, and our variety is largest in these, but of course we have the other kind, too.

Now about getting his exact size. There's the rub. An excellent way is to bring one of his old coats. If you can't do that by hook or crook, get his exact chest measure. This will avoid the annoyance of change after Christmas when the stock is depleted. We have gone to the limit this Christmas season in getting variety enough, and all that remains for you to do is to select.

$6.00, $6.50, $7.50, $8.00, $9.00, $10.00 up to $65.

Boxed Dress Goods for Gifts—both woolens and cottons—will be ready today, and the first feature to which we ask attention is 2,000 neatly boxed dress goods patterns of choice materials for holiday gifts, at $3.00, $3.25, $3.50, $3.75, $4.00, $4.50 and $5.00 per dress pattern.

This is a most interesting offer, for the boxes contain the newest dress fabrics of this season's make, the range of materials comprising mohairs, cheviots, serges, cashmeres, armures and prunellas in a most complete assortment, line of solid colors and black; also fancy mohairs and stylish mixtures.

There is no gift that receives more consideration, and is withal the most practical, as the gift of a dress pattern of fine material.

Other boxed dress goods, have among them—

For those who do not wish their dress goods boxed we have some thousands of yards of $1.25 and $1.00 Winter Suitings, splendid color mixtures, which we bought and offer as a special holiday dress goods number at the low price of 68c a yard.

Imported printed dimities and printed organdies and printed mousselines, in medium and large floral patterns, something that pleases the younger set mightily, as they are the fashionable stuffs for party dresses, exclusive styles, 25c, 30c, 35c, 40c, 45c, 50c a yard.

Blouses and Vests for Skating, while they may suggest a good idea for Christmas gift, are not mentioned here with that intent. Skating is now in full swing at Duquesne Garden, and these vests and blouses are very suggestive of nattiness, to say nothing of comfort.

Fancy woven knit Vests, plain colors, single breasted, $1.25; double breasted, $1.50.
Knit Vests in fancy stripes, double breasted, $2.50.
Knit Vests of Zephyr, plain colors, single breasted, brass clasps, $5.00.
Knit Blouses at $2.00 and up to $6.50.
Norfolk Blouses at $10.00.

DULL THANKSGIVING DAY IN ROOMS OF DETENTION

Ten Culprits Awaiting the Juvenile Court Had No Turkey Dinner—Compelled to Follow the Regular Routine.

Ten boys spent Thanksgiving day in the rooms of detention provided for the little culprits of the juvenile court. As the court will not convene until Monday, they must remain there until next week.

Thanksgiving day was not unlike any other day in the year to the boys who are detained in the county building until their cases have been settled. Though the place is made comfortable and pleasant, the discipline and duties imposed upon the children are such as will not make them desirous of returning very often. It is the intention of the women who have been most active in the interest of the juvenile court that the period of arrest shall not interfere with the school studies of the children, and so there are regular hours every morning for study. The children are compelled to take exercises in physical culture and the remainder of the day is employed so that the girls and boys will not have leisure to plot mischief. The children are required to take care of the rooms, doing the [illegible] girls' [illegible] sections is accepted. On Sundays they are told stories and some form of religious exercises is conducted.

Three matrons have been provided for the [illegible] Miss Ada Lemon, having charge during the day, and [illegible] Louden in charge at night. It is Miss Huston who directs the school studies of the children. She was formerly a teacher in the public schools and is well fitted to take charge of the school exercises.

The rooms of detention are the finest and most complete in Pennsylvania. The girls and the boys are kept apart even during their study hours. Though it is possible to accommodate 40 children, the women have never had to have that number under their temporary care. Ten of the rooms are reserved for the boys and three for the girls. The school is the largest room and is bright and cheerful, and from it open two long corridors, one containing dormitories for the boys. Two or three beds are placed in each of these rooms.

An important feature of the rooms of detention is the bath, for the children are taken there dirty and ragged, and after a complete bath are given a whole outfit of clean, fresh clothing which they keep when they are discharged by the court and sent to their homes. The clothing is donated by the women throughout the city and others who are interested in the work of the juvenile court.

In these rooms of detention over the warden's apartments in the county building the 10 small urchins spent Thanksgiving day. There was no football game for them, no fun on the streets, and though the absence of a big Thanksgiving dinner was not an uncommon thing, they pined for it as they were forced to perform the tasks assigned them.

Costly Fire in Fruit Stand.

An overheated stove in the fruit stand of G. H. Beckert, in the Diamond market, set fire to the surrounding woodwork at 2:10 p. m. yesterday. Damage to the extent of $1,500 was done. The losses were: G. H. Beckert, $500; John A. Rocksig, $500; Mrs. James McVighe, $500; Abe Schwartz, $200; Handenshield Company, $100. All of the losses are on fruits and green goods.

FEED HER RIGHT

The Sure Way to Rear a Healthy Girl.

The relation of food to comfort and health impressed an Iowa teacher who says:

"After teaching school for several years I became a victim of insomnia and night after night it was 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning before I would fall asleep completely worn out. Of course I lost strength and brain power and became terribly nervous until I was on the verge of nervous prostration.

"About that time I read an article about Grape-Nuts that convinced me that my trouble was due to indigestion, something I had never thought of before. I got two boxes of Grape-Nuts and began to use them for breakfast and supper with good rich cream. Well, the change was something wonderful and my health came back in bounds.

"Grape-Nuts took the place of non-nourishing food and I am now better in health, brain power and spirits; sleep well and work longer and harder and never feel nervous or worried. When I have finished my school session I still feel I have lots of reserve force and energy left and when I go to bed at night I get sound and refreshing sleep and get up early, happy as a lark.

"I have had numbers of my scholars try the food and I must tell you about one case. She was a puny, nervous little girl and her mother told me she did not eat enough to keep a bird alive. All she wanted was candy and other trash. When I told her mother about Grape-Nuts food she followed my advice and its effect upon this child, shown in the awakened energy of the body and mind was simply wonderful. Her school work became entirely satisfactory and she gained in bodily strength, lost all her nervousness, and soon became a rosy, chubby young miss." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The movement for the widening of Eighth street is another recognition of the necessity for more room in downtown Pittsburgh. When the thoroughfares of this city were established the burghers had no thought of conditions to come. Had they been told that the future would bring structures extending five or ten times the width of their streets toward the sky line, they could not have believed it. But this thing has come to pass and more street room is absolutely necessary to accommodate the traffic that has come with the tall buildings.

With the very near approach of the regular session of congress it is pertinent to say that one of the most important subjects likely to be urged before it is the currency post check system. A bill will be introduced by Mr. Gardner of Michigan providing that one, two and five dollar bills shall have blanks, whereby they may be made payable to a particular person, and so transmitted through the mails. That is a remedy in part only. There is need for postal notes for fractions of one dollar that may be safely transmitted by mail. Thousands of persons are annually put to great inconvenience in the remittance of small sums, or compelled to take the alternative of trusting coins to the ordinary mail. This should not be so.

The scale on which Panama generally appears on the maps causes the impression that it is a much smaller country than it really is. It is twice the size of Switzerland or Denmark, two and a half times the size of Belgium or Holland, and very nearly as large as Ireland. On the Caribbean sea the coast line is about 450 miles long and the bay of Panama which looks like a mere inlet on the map indents the land to a distance of 110 miles and is 122 miles wide at its mouth. The country has rich resources in gold, mercury, copper, iron, salt, gypsum, lime, coal and sulphur, as yet altogether untouched. There is no doubt that Panama is capable of supporting a large population and becoming a flourishing state.

A correspondent writes The Gazette: "Please urge councils to require the removal of the railroad tracks as far down as Third street." He refers to a reported suggestion that the Pennsylvania tracks be allowed to remain on Liberty avenue below Sixth street. As we understand it, the Pennsylvania railroad, if granted a franchise for an elevated road along Duquesne way, proposed to clear Liberty avenue of tracks at grade down to the Duquesne freight house within two years. So it should. It is important to the city that Liberty avenue should be freed from the incubus it has borne for so many years. There may be honest difference of opinion as to whether such removal from Liberty avenue is adequate compensation for the new privileges asked, but we do not think there is room for any difference of opinion on the point that the tracks should come off Liberty avenue.

If the East is "the enemy's country" in Mr. Bryan's opinion because of its set preference for the gold standard, England is even more, but at present Mr. Bryan appears to be quite at home there. He has been meeting earls, lords and cabinet ministers and has a fine opportunity to do missionary work. It would be a great exploit if he could convince Premier Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain that the real trouble with England is not free trade, but lack of free silver. Mr. Bryan's paper has been somewhat taken up of late with explanations of his course in the Bennett will case. It will be an agreeable change when his impressions of English social conditions begin to appear. His ingenuity may be trusted to make free silver deductions as in the case of his visit to Mexico. The Mexican government, however, is so inappreciative of the advantages of free silver and so keenly aware of injury and loss from it, that they are striving in every possible way to establish the gold standard.

The question of low rates to the St. Louis World's Fair is complicated with the ticket scalping abuse. Railroad officials declare that the figures will be affected by the degree of protection that will be afforded the railroad companies against ticket brokers, and the St. Louis papers have begun an agitation in favor of strict regulations to govern the sale and use of special rate tickets. If through ticket brokerage the making of special rates upon World's Fair travel is going to demoralize its rates in general railroads will be naturally deterred from making special rates as low as they otherwise would. There is no proper field for ticket brokerage and sound jurisprudence would extirpate it. On the one hand, railroad companies should be required to redeem unused transportation at any ticket office and traffic in tickets should be absolutely prohibited by law. The movement of state legislation has been in this direction for some years past, with decided benefit to public morality.

Having reached the limit of endurance in silent delay, the sublime porte has submitted a reply to the note presented by the ambassadors of Russia and Austria concerning reforms in Macedonia. The porte accepts nine proposals but reserves the right of negotiation over the details of the manner in which the program is to be carried out. At the same time it promises to execute the reforms demanded of it in the most faithful manner. This sort of evasion, delay and reluctant submission are familiarly characteristic of Turkey. The powers demand humanity, while the Mussulmans demand the privilege of punishing the "dogs of unbelievers." The Turkish government is thus harassed between foreign power to compel and its own inclinations backed by its people. It is tolerated as a buffer state and a balance of power and it presumes to the fullest upon its position. No good will ever come from Turkey until it is dismembered, and even then it is doubtful if its turbulent elements can be controlled.

A Chapter of History.

The Panama policy of the administration is the logical outcome of a line of policy inaugurated by the historic Democratic party and identified with its heroic traditions.

It dates back to 1835, when Andrew Jackson was president. On March 3 of that year the senate adopted a resolution requesting the president "to consider the expediency of opening negotiations with the governments of Central America and New Grenada, for the purpose of effectually protecting, by suitable treaty stipulations with them, such individuals or companies as may undertake to open a communication between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by the construction of a ship canal across the isthmus which connects North and South America." The object of the undertaking was to insure the construction of the isthmian canal.

In pursuance of this suggestion, negotiations were carried on which eventually resulted in a treaty with the republic of New Grenada, signed at Bogota December 12, 1846. This was during the administration of James K. Polk, who transmitted the treaty to the senate, February 10, 1847. It is in the exercise of the rights conferred by this treaty and the obligations imposed by it that President Roosevelt's administration has done what it did at Panama. In the action taken there has been no deviation from the original purpose of the treaty. The considerations set forth by President Polk as having actuated the provisions of the treaty are exactly those which have guided the course of President Roosevelt. President Polk remarks that "the importance of this concession to the commercial and political interests of the United States cannot easily be overrated." He goes on to observe that "we are more deeply and directly interested in the subject of this guaranty than New Grenada herself or any other country." Again he remarks that "the interests of the world at stake are so important that the security of this passage between the two oceans cannot be suffered to depend upon the wars and revolutions which may arise between different nations." It is plainly set forth that the object of the guaranty of neutrality was to ensure the construction of the isthmian canal.

President Roosevelt has simply carried out the policy which Jackson planned and Polk initiated. The treaty guaranteed the sovereignty of New Granada, but New Granada has disappeared and its territory has been divided. Colombia succeeded to the possession of the isthmus and was recognized by the United States. The republic of Panama has succeeded to Colombia as the possessor of the isthmus and it in its turn has received recognition. The rights and duties of the United States have never been interrupted or suspended; they always have been and still are construed with reference to their original purpose, namely to ensure the construction of the isthmian canal.

In view of these facts the action which the Democratic party of today may take in regard to the matter is invested with peculiar interest. If now when the historic policy of the Democratic party is being consummated it should be repudiated and opposed by the Democratic party of today, it will be an instance of political degeneracy which history can hardly parallel.

Thibet a Disturber.

Reports concerning the situation in the far east continue conflicting. In London grave fears are expressed that unless the matters at issue between Japan and Russia are well settled before the meeting of the Japanese diet on December 6, the war party will carry everything before it. On the other hand, a dispatch from Vladivostock to St. Petersburg notes a decrease in the belligerence of the Japanese press and expresses the opinion that the ardor of Japan is cooling.

As a matter of fact, nothing has been settled and it is doubtful if anything can be settled definitely without the arbitrament of arms. It is Russia's settled policy to obtain an Asiatic coast free from ice. Korea has apparently been marked to furnish it, so it is not likely any positive assurances will be given to Japan that Russia will never meddle there. Russia will be willing to wait a decade, or two or three decades to avoid war, but Russia has never abandoned any fixed policy. It has suspended action, as in the case of obtaining a position on the Mediterranean, but never ceases to watch for the opportunity to carry out its plans.

While the Novoe Vremga cannot be regarded as always voicing official opinion, its utterances are often significant. Just now it finds the British quarrel with Thibet very objectionable. It declares that Thibet is too weak to prevent the British crossing the Hamalayas, but that there are others who might create a diversion in some other quarter. Otherwise Britain may obtain control of Thibet and thereby the prestige of being regarded by 500,000,000 Buddhists as the most powerful country in the world. This comment may have no bearing upon the Manchurian-Korean situation, but there is certainly nowhere as open an opportunity to "create a diversion" as in the Pacific. There are so many strings to Russian world politics that a war with Japan, not desired for itself, might seem preferable to keeping the peace. At any rate, it is worth remembering that the favorable progress of the negotiations with Japan seemed to stop at about the same time that the controversy between Thibet and the British administration in India began.

Profitable Business.

An interesting order for Thanksgiving week has just been booked by the Union Switch & Signal Company. It is for the signaling apparatus to be used in the New York subway and is for the most modern and effective safety devices. One feature of these signals is that they will stand at "danger" unless forcibly made to show a clear track. Another and more vital feature is a device that will automatically cut off the power and apply the brakes if the cautionary signal is not heeded by the engineman. With this device in operation a dead engineer could not run past the semaphore set at "danger." It ought to be introduced in general railroad practice in the interest of reducing a mortality that is far too large in this country.

The same company has also booked an order for switching and signaling apparatus for the great St. Louis terminal system. These two orders will keep the full force of the company busy until well into next year. Other orders in hand and the least possible increment will keep this concern going actively until next July. There is no sign of depression in this instance at least, and it is probable a canvass of all the Pittsburgh factories would yield similar results.

There has been some slackening of orders for iron and steel, also for railroad equipment. This is not wholly a bad thing. Boom times do not promote the best of shop practice. Pressure of orders encourages resort to uneconomical, if not to unworkmanlike expedients. Boom profits permit of slovenly methods and the disposition to tolerate them grows with the pressure of unsolicited business. The temporary reaction, on the other hand, will serve to improve practice again. Sharp competition will stimulate ingenuity. It will not be surprising if industrial corporations and railroads are able to show a larger proportion of net earnings on moderate business than they could trying to keep up with an excess of demand. There will be a sharper lookout for leaks and waste and probably more real prosperity.

Thanksgiving Abroad.

Not only throughout the United States, but in every foreign land where Americans reside in considerable number, Thanksgiving day was appropriately celebrated by feasting and giving of thanks for the blessings enjoyed by the nation and its individual citizens. This day is as truly an American holiday as is the Fourth of July. It is just as faithfully kept and as characteristically celebrated. It may be that it has lost something of Puritanic severity through the lapse of years, but it has lost none of its significance. Even among the Puritans, who originated the day of thanksgiving, it was made a time of good cheer and feasting. It was an occasion for devout recognition of the mercies of divine providence, but beside that it was a day for unbending of the severest aspects of the Puritan life, a time for the reunion of families about the home table and for the display of parental and filial affection which were not countenanced on ordinary occasions. The modern addition of a little football has not spoiled the universal observance.

Yesterday Americans gathered in London, Paris, Berlin and other foreign capitals, with genuine American enthusiasm to celebrate the feast. Whatever else was toasted, the United States was foremost in the good wishes. Thankful hearts were gathered about the festal boards and that thankfulness which is of the heart is greater than that which is put into words. On those foreign tables were assembled the viands inevitably associated with the feast at home, and because the diners were unable to gather with kith and kin at home they were glad to meet each other for thanksgiving.

The announcement that the government of Colombia has notified the Panama Canal Company that it will not be allowed to transfer its privileges to the United States adds to the safety.

Mr. Hanna's coldness toward it has chilled the warmth of the Democratic determination to run him for the Republican nomination for president.

It is worth a lot more than the price of admission to see the promptness and decision with which our friend Harry Davis rises superior to adverse circumstances.

It is announced that the steel billet pool controls the supply; but on the other hand, of course, the consumers control the demand.

The lower house of congress takes the position that the senate is now wholly responsible for the Cuban reciprocity bill.

The thoughtful man now turns his back upon the bones of the Thanksgiving turkey and faces the Christmas problem.

It is understood that Speaker Cannon doesn't believe that the United States senate is really as big as it feels.

The wise farmer doesn't send all his turkeys to market at one time. There are a few left for Christmas.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

When November's gusty breezes
Shake the branches bare and brown,
And you hear on sunny uplands,
Ripened nuts come dropping down,
While the loaded wains are creaking
'Neath a load they scarce can hold,
And you see each lin and storehouse
Brimming o'er with Nature's gold,
Then the nation's sons and daughters,
Wheresoe'er their feet may stray,
Turn their eager footsteps homeward,
There to keep Thanksgiving day.
—Journal of Education.

It was an ideal Thanksgiving day, and if it was not enjoyed to the fullest extent it was solely and simply the fault of the people.

There was the snow to make glad the heart of the boy with a sled, and to cheer the country lad whose leisure it is to track rabbits and groundhogs to their holes and devote hours of toil to digging them out.

There was the crisp air to redden the cheeks of every fur-trimmed lady, rendering her radiant and lovely, provided it did not redden her nose too much.

There was the bluster that drives game to sheltered nooks well known to the hunter. Only the fisherman was denied the sport in which he most delights on holidays and vacation times.

Did you enjoy yourself?

* * * * *

Early yesterday morning sundry dogs of various sizes, shapes and colors were seen leading men of high and low degree towards the country districts. The dogs were in light hunting order, wearing one color, to which was the strap by which the men were led.

The men were more heavily clad with sweater or top coat and gloves. They appeared to be the burden bearers, having green cases under their arms, game bags on their backs, and their hip pockets pouched out with something suitable for the occasion.

That the dogs were glad it was Thanksgiving day there can be no doubt, for they yelped and pranced and pulled hard on their straps in earnest effort to get the men into the field of action. Had it not been for the men attached to them they would have frisked, and barked, and capered much more freely.

Did you notice the men as they returned from the hunt?

Were they loaded with game, or anything?

Did they accuse the dogs of having led them into gameless places, or of not pointing the game in time, or setting it fast enough to suit them?

Did they appear to be as thankful as they hoped to be when they went forth in the morning?

* * * * *

O, well! It is over now, except for those who got too much, and right thankful we are that it is, for it is not the day that is good and restful and helpful, but the occasion.

Those of you who went back home and spent the day with the folks, feel refreshed with a love and wholesome feeling that clusters around home and will not be dragged away from it no matter if a palace is offered instead of the humble dwelling in which you were born and sheltered and reared.

It not only inspirates one to go back home again, but rejuvenates and makes one feel more contented and thankful. Even if the old place has changed some, memory supplies the missing scenes, and the old songs, and the old stories, make it all seem as it once was.

What is there so rare as Thanksgiving day—the day we go back home again, the day we are young again, the day we lay toil and care aside and live an ideal life? Brief as the day doth seem, yet it is enough to give us a taste of the real pleasure in living, and a hint of what a glad, glorious world this would be were men what they were designed to be, or what they might be, or may we venture to add, what they will be?

* * * * *

But now we are at work again, and how thankful we should feel that there is work to do, and that we have the strength to do it.

Some there are who do not like to work, but rather prefer to be idle, even at the risk of becoming worthless and vicious. Work is as essential to health, moral as well as physical, as is food.

A healthy man wakes up in the morning with a complete day's work stored up. There is no method of retirement from this provision of nature.

The salt of life is the accomplishment of something useful, and this requires more or less of close effort and skillful knowledge.

Avoidance of labor by one capable of it leads inevitably to tedium and lack of interest.

No one in the midst of his work, pushed with energy and fidelity, complains of ennui or has an acquaintance with brooding fits of despondency and morbid introspection. And such things rust out, vitality much faster than occupation wears it out, or even an exceptionally hard grind exhausts it.

They are unfortunate mankind to its serious work is a noble study and far more deserving of a place as a science than what is conventionally called recreation.

* * * * *

Periods of rest are good, holidays have their place, a useful fad is a refreshing form of doing something, but the main business of humanity is zealous, workman-like, continuous labor as long as strength endures; and it lengthens life as well as sweetens it. If any one thinks to bring in here the man with the hoe let the earlier view of Carlyle be the answer:

"Venerable to me is the hard hand—crooked, coarse—wherein, notwithstanding, lies a cunning virtue, indefeasibly royal, as of the sceptre of this planet. Venerable, too, is the rugged face, all weather-tanned, besodden with rude intelligences; for it is the face of a man living manlike."

The attempt to draw an arbitrary line between vocation and avocation is misleading, for work in a great many cases is the highest enjoyment. One fallacy to get rid of at the start is that regular, strenuous work, a full day's work as a habit, is injurious. It is idleness or half-hearted effort, not regular occupation, that is corrupting. The well-kept machine in motion outlasts any other.

There is a tradition that people work themselves to death, but in such cases the trouble can be traced to irregularities, fretfulness, or neglect of fixed and perfectly balanced laws of health. The proper bodily balance must be maintained by sleep and nutrition, and spasmodic hurry and fluster must be avoided. But the capable workman may labor on from youth to age ten hours a day and be all the better for his steady going along the orbit of years. The deeper influences back of such a life are preservative, not destructive.

* * * * *

Whether we love to work or not depends largely, if not altogether on what we work for. If simply to secure a few bites to keep us alive, or for a few dollars to hoard, or to spend riotously, we will hardly love it, even though we keep passing away from sun to sun, day in and day out. Such work is wearing, if not really demoralizing, because it keeps our noses to the grindstone, and our eyes on the ground.

But when we work for some one who can appreciate our efforts, and who will help us to enjoy the profits, then work becomes a pleasure. It is then an expression of our love for a chosen one, and is no more arduous than courtship. In fact it is a continuous tale of love, an open declaration of undimmed and undying affection.

Verily there is a labor of love, and it is ennobling, elevating, and soulful. It builds far better things than passing pleasures and fanciful amusements. The reward it offers cheers and encourages the heart, truly happy homes—heavenly places on earth—are built by love's labor, and lighted and cheered by it.

Truly it is healthful, and good, and noble to work when moved by love, and prompted by a heart desire to render others as comfortable as we would have them be.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

A monument to Garibaldi is to be erected in Buenos Ayres.

Prince Jonah Kuhio Kalanianaole, the delegate to congress from Hawaii, is known in official circles as Minister Kuhio, but is usually referred to by his nickname Prince Cupid, acquired while at school in San Francisco.

Governor Bates of Massachusetts officiated as proxy godfather at the christening of Letitia Marshall, great-great-grand-daughter of Patrick Henry and grandniece of Chief Justice Marshall, in Emanuel Episcopal church, Vicksburg, during his recent trip south.

Sir William Muir, former principal of the University of Edinburgh, has just had conferred upon him the medal of the Royal Asiatic society. This, being the highest distinction which the society has in its power to bestow on an Oriental scholar, is a rare honor which is conferred friendly on some noted statesman, traveler, military man or scholar.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving day in New York has been celebrated in about the usual way. There are people who talk sadly about the "good old times," when Thanksgiving was observed in a manner more impressive than is the case in these degenerate days, but the average New Yorker, whose digestion is in fair order, and who is of an optimistic habit of thought, is content with the Thanksgiving of this year as a fair specimen of national festivity. It may be true that churchgoing is not so general as it was a quarter of a century ago. On the other hand, the large attendance at all places of worship in this city this morning rather disproves that popular assertion. Sermons that breathed the sentiment of the day were delivered to goodly-sized congregations, and there was a general air of devoutness to be observed in the crowds walking from church, mingled with anticipatory satisfaction of a gustatory nature. After church there were theaters, the concert halls and the Portrait Shows, with the regulation dinner as night closed in. Dinner on Thanksgiving day is an important function, and it is pleasant to know that few people in this great city were compelled to dine poorly, so far as the expense was concerned. Thanksgiving dinner for the poor is an honored institution in Greater New York, as it is in most large American cities.

Rise and Fall in Mulberry Street.

Police Commissioner Greene intends to give his Tammany successor in office—if there should be one—a clear sweep when he takes possession. Roundsmen are arising to sergeantcies, and patrolmen to the honor of "rounds" every day. The Commissioner says he will fill all vacancies before the first of the year. Under the quasi-military organization of the police force in New York there is no such thing as degrading an officer to a lower rank except for cause, and the men promoted by Greene will be safe in their stripes and gold bands, unless they misbehave themselves seriously. Thus there is more than the usual activity at 200 Mulberry street just now.

Jamaica's Winds Blow Ill.

When the winds blow free in Jamaica, then look out for financial squalls in New York. An extensive importing firm down town has just filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of nearly $35,000, and actual assets inconsiderable. The cause of the trouble is given as hurricanes in the West Indies. The house imports fruits very largely, and so much was destroyed in Jamaica months ago that there is nothing for the firm but to declare its inability to meet its obligations.

More Steps Toward Godliness.

With the steady extension of the ancient truth that cleanliness is next to godliness, the municipal authorities here are adding to the number of public baths from year to year. There are baths of all kinds in various localities, including swimming pools for both sexes, Turkish baths, and other conveniences of sanitary nature. Now there are to be two more public baths established, one on the extreme east side, and the other on the west. Each bath will cost $115,000, a guarantee that they will be fairly well equipped, and housed in handsome buildings.

Real Reform Sweeps Cherry Hill.

There is a wave of total abstinence sweeping over Cherry Hill and its neighborhood. Whether this will have a desirable moral effect on the "Cherry Hill Gang" and similar groups of independent citizens, is not apparent, but probably it will. The Paulist Fathers are carrying on a mission on the East Side, and are bringing many people back to the church. To do this effectually they find it necessary to advocate abstention from alcoholic and malt liquors. It is a hard thing for Cherry Hillers and their friends to give up whisky, but presumably they can be prevailed to do so when it is presented to them properly. At all events, the clergymen say they got 3,000 men to sign the pledge within the first week.

They Don't Need Graft.

That scheme of District Attorney Jerome to place the city government of New York practically in the hands of wealthy men has appealed to Mt. Vernon. In that lively city the new mayor, Dr. Brush, has appointed some of the wealthiest and most prominent men in the city to offices which were held by ward politicians and professional office-holders in the late Democratic administration.

Still People Will Walk Over It.

That old question of the strength of the original Brooklyn bridge bobs up again. It has been heard many times in the last four or five years, and once there was a painful report that the bridge was breaking down. Some of the beams had "buckled," and it was said that there were evidences of strain all over the structure. The trolley cars and bridge trains were blamed for it. It has been admitted over and over again that the bridge was not intended to sustain the weight and jarring of trolley and trains, but as the edifice is considered to be safe, there has been no actual condemnation expressed. Commissioner Lindenthal, who is original as well as sweeping in his ideas, insists that the present bridge must be replaced by another of stronger construction. The new bridge, when it comes to be built, will also have two decks. It may be some years before the new bridge takes the place of the present one, but it will come surely, sooner or later. The old Brooklyn bridge is archaic in these days.

Will Add Education to Wisdom.

One of the new institutions which will be a boon to many deserving little fellows, and which is expected soon to be in existence, is the Newsboys' Industrial school. It will be opened in the downtown Newsboys' Lodging house, on the East Side, within easy reach of Newspaper Row. It will be the first in this country. Newsboys in New York have a more trying life of it than falls to the similar class in other cities. While New Yorkers, like American citizens elsewhere, have a warm side for the little merchants, they are not brought so intimately into knowledge of them as is the case in smaller communities. On that account, perhaps the New York newsie develops a self-reliance which is simply remarkable in the eyes of a stranger. It is thought the industrial school will foster the native qualities of the boys, without giving them any of the feeling of pauperism. The average newsboy is, above all else, personally independent. He will not allow himself to be patronized.

Joy and Sorrow Intermingled.

There was the usual Thanksgiving celebration at Salvation army headquarters this morning. The absence of Mrs. Booth-Tucker was talked about sadly, but there was apparently a general feeling of gratitude for the mercies of the year, notwithstanding the bereavement. Salvation army folk have a way of appearing happy, and presumably they are. The funeral drapery, still disposed about the big building in West Fourteenth street, was in pathetic contrast with the flowers and other Thanksgiving decorations which custom prescribes at the headquarters.

IT IS TO SMILE.

The Nation's Capital.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Dispatches from the city of Mexico announce that President Diaz does not intend to stand for re-election next year but will use his influence to bring about the election of Senor Jose Yves Limantour, at present minister of finance.

President Diaz's intention of retiring from public life has been announced before without foundation, but this time the news comes from apparently reliable sources. The plan seems to be for him to take an extended trip to Europe about the first of the year and during his absence to leave the affairs of the presidency in the hands of Senor Limantour. This will be a test of Limantour's ability, and if he proves equal to it then President Diaz will cause his election to the presidency next year. But if the secretary of finance fails to come up to the expectations of Diaz, then the veteran soldier and statesman may conclude that the best interests of the country demand that he take another term. Secretary Limantour will have no easy task in running the affairs of the Mexican government during the absence of his chief. There are men in Mexico who have ambitions to succeed President Diaz and they will undoubtedly attempt to prove that Limantour is not the proper person to be elected to the presidency.

Reyes is Strongest Opponent.

General Bernardo Reyes, ex-minister of war, is the strongest opponent Limantour will have. He is the idol of the army and has a strong following among the people, but it is said that the foreign interests all prefer Limantour, who, though a young man, is an able one and is a student of the methods by which Diaz has governed the country so successfully. With the retirement of President Porfirio Diaz one of the strongest men in the field of the world's politics will pass from the scene of action. Though president of the republic that is founded upon a constitution that is modeled after that of the United States, he rules his people with an iron hand. No dictator was ever firmer entrenched in his office than is the president of Mexico. He is a soldier with a brilliant record and as a statesman he has demonstrated his genius in bringing his country from the depths into which it was plunged by 50 years of constant strife and revolution to a position of strength and respect among the nations of the world. But he is now in his 74th year and he would gladly lay aside his power and pass his remaining days in peace if he could do so without endangering the stability of his government. Mexico attained her independence in 1825, though it took eleven years of bloody fighting with Spain to secure the recognition of the mother country as a free and independent state. Then followed 50 years of the most active history in the experience of a nation. Revolution followed revolution; presidents and dictators rose and fell; then came the war with the United States and France invaded the land in an attempt to establish Maximilian upon the throne of Mexico. Porfirio Diaz first entered upon the scene as a soldier in the war with the United States. Then he fought in the civil wars and during the French invasion, and after the French had left the country he pressed Maximilian's generals hard and finally on June 21, 1867, he has troops into Mexico City. Then but 37 years old he was a candidate for the presidency, but Juarez, with whom Diaz had served, was elected. But Diaz was ambitious and he kept up a continual opposition to Juarez and his successor Lerdo, leading many revolts until he had driven them out of the country and was master of the situation. In May 1877 Diaz became president of Mexico and from that time dates the prosperous era of Mexico history.

Elected Gonzales in 1880.

Being prevented by the constitution from succeeding himself in 1880, he elected his friend General Gonzales president. Before the four years of that term had expired Diaz had seen to it that the constitution no longer stood in the way and in 1884 he was again elected president, being re-elected in 1888, 1892, 1898 and 1900. His term expires next year. As previously stated President Diaz is an absolute dictator in Mexico, but it is admitted that that is the only sort of rule that would be effective there. The people must be led with a firm hand and in Diaz they have found a ruler whom they can trust and rely upon. During the half century from the time of establishment of Mexico's independence to the accession of Diaz to the presidency, the country had 52 presidents and dictators, an emperor and a regent. Then came Diaz and for 26 years he has been able to hold the reins of government without a break. In the light of this history and knowing the people as he does, it is no wonder that he prefers to give his prospective successor a trial before transferring to him his mantle of power and fame. Mexico is now a great country. The republic embraces a territory of 767,-216 square miles and has a population of 13,570,545. She has a standing army of 37,000 men, but no navy to speak of. Her total public debt is $203,225,000, and it is a source of pride to President Diaz that during his administration the interest has been paid punctually.

Salaries of Officials.

The salary of the president is $50,000 a year and that of each of the seven cabinet ministers is $15,000. Congress is composed of a hundred of representatives and a senate similar to our own, the senators being elected indirectly as ours are and the representatives directly. Each member of both houses gets a salary of $2,000 a year, which is $2,000 less than is paid by the United States. Dispatches from the City of Mexico state that it is the intention of Diaz to leave the affairs of the government in the hands of Senor Limantour when he goes to Europe, and it is not exactly plain how he can do this, although in view of the great power he wields it is presumed that he can arrange affairs to suit himself. But the Mexican constitution provides that in case of the president's sudden disability, the secretary of foreign affairs officiates in his place, and in case of leave, death or permanent disability, congress elects a pro-tempore president who acts until a president is elected by the people. But when at the expiration of his firm term as president Diaz found that he could not succeed himself because the constitution interfered, he found a way to get around it by electing a friend president to hold the seat for him for four years and in the meantime had constitution amended and the objectionable clause removed. So that it is safe to assume that if he now wants Senor Limantour to succeed him he will be able to overcome any constitutional difficulty that may seem to intervene.

Delicate Period for Mexico.

The passing of Diaz from the presidency will be a delicate period for Mexico. Ambitious leaders may stir up civil strife and the country may witness another epoch of revolution that will impede the progress that it has been making for 25 years. But if it can survive the chance and the presidency falls into competent hands, there is apparently no reason why the prosperity that has accompanied the rule of President Diaz should not continue.

Unions and Contracts.

The most influential labor leaders of the country are very strong in their conviction that the scrupulous observance of contracts is the best foundation for the permanent success of the unions. They believe that contracts should be made with deliberation and care, and that when made they should be respected. The more rapidly the individual unions put this policy into practice the better it will be for them and their cause.—Chicago Record-Herald.

EIGHTH STREET TO BE WIDENED

It Will Relieve the Downtown Congestion and Give a New Shopping Thoroughfare.

PROPERTY OWNERS FAVOR IT

An improvement which will work wonders in relieving the congestion of traffic in the heart of the city is likely to be taken up for serious consideration next spring. It is the widening of Eighth street from Penn avenue to Liberty avenue, 250 feet, where the street is only a 20-foot alley at present. The project has been broached several times before, but of late real estate men and merchants have been agitating the matter with a view to getting united action on it soon.

Eighth street, from Penn avenue to Duquesne way, is 40 feet wide and has a fair amount of travel. Owing to its narrow width above Penn avenue, this travel is turned into the avenue at a point where traffic is greatly congested at best, making a crowded corner. Between Penn and Liberty avenues a row of business blocks juts out into what should be a good downtown street and blocks the traffic. To buy the frontage—250 feet long and 20 wide, enough to make the proposed improvement—would cost but a fraction of what is being expended for the widening of Diamond and Virgin alleys. Property owners on both sides of the street are said to be in favor of the project and are willing to bear their proportionate share of the cost.

By making Eighth street 40 feet wide its entire length would become a main thoroughfare between Duquesne way and Liberty avenue, entering the latter street at the end of Wood street, one of the best business locations in the city. This would not only relieve the through traffic in Seventh and Ninth streets, but would also draw a large amount of travel from Penn avenue and Liberty avenue, thus making it a good retail street the entire length. The promoters urge that a considerable amount of the Allegheny street car traffic could be diverted to this street from the Ninth street bridge, which would add greatly to the importance of the street as a business thoroughfare.

Property owners and merchants in locations adjacent to Eighth street favor the improvement and urge the need of immediate action. A scheme of action has already been formulated and may be presented to those interested within a short time. As one merchant said yesterday:

"It is possible to provide another good business street for Pittsburgh at a very small cost. For years Liberty and Penn avenues, near the intersection of Eighth street, have been held back, in a business way, by this 20-foot alley, as the improvements on the business lots now show. Anyone, by standing at the corner of Penn avenue and Eighth street or the Liberty avenue corner, can easily see how the old buildings jutting out into Eighth street interfere with traffic and trade. It is time something definite was done in the matter, for it will be the best paying improvement for Pittsburgh ever attempted in the downtown section."

THEATER FIRE'S SEQUEL.

Two Big Audiences Saw Yesterday's Performances at the Avenue.

While the odor of smoke still filled the building and evidences of Wednesday night's fire were still to be seen, two of the biggest audiences of the season crowded the Avenue theater at yesterday's two performances. The large attendance was a tribute by the patrons of the house to the enterprise shown by Manager Harry Davis in repairing the damage of the fire.

Before the last embers of the blaze had been extinguished 30 carpenters were put to work to relay the floor. They worked throughout the night and until noon yesterday. Painters and plasterers followed, and when the doors were thrown open for the Thanksgiving matinee the work had been completed. Tons of sawdust had been used in sprinkling the carpets and the officers of the theater assisted with mops and brooms. The house was not badly damaged, and this was shown, but the auditorium was dry and the people were placed at no discomfort.

AFTER CHICKEN THIEVES.

Early Morning Raid in the Panhandle Yards and Eleven Prisoners Made.

The police were active in the Panhandle freight yards, Try street, early yesterday morning, and Special Officers McCabe and Callen gathered in 11 alleged chicken thieves.

Magistrate Stewart fined Walter Ferguson, John Hahn, William Brannigan, Edward Carroll, John West, John Mortimer and Joseph Murphy $10 and costs each, and held Fred Wexler, Patrick Clark, Walter Mack and Richard Reinkey for trial in the juvenile court. When arrested the prisoners had in their possession 14 chickens, eight turkeys and two ducks.

John Henry, colored, alias "The Dodger," was arrested yesterday on a charge of larceny preferred before Magistrate T. D. Stewart by James Flinn of Vickroy street. It is alleged that on Wednesday night Henry stole several game chickens from Flinn's yard.

LIEDERKRANZ IN ITS NEW HOME

Beltzhoover German Society Dedicates Structure Devoted to Music and Fun.

PARADE OF OVER 1,000 MEN

With marching and music the handsome new hall of the Beltzhoover Liederkranz at Curtin avenue and Industry street, Thirty-eighth ward, was dedicated yesterday afternoon.

Previous to the dedication a parade was held in which over 1,000 members of German societies in the two cities participated. The parade formed on Curtin avenue near the new hall and paraded over the principal streets of the hilltop wards. Adolph Demme, who was one of the organizers of the Leiderkranz and was its first president, acted as marshal of the parade.

The dedication of the hall was in charge of President George F. Roth. After an address of welcome by President Roth, Charles Meiwes spoke in German, giving a history of the Leiderkranz since its organization in 1896. An address in English was delivered by George Fritz, explaining the origin of the Leiderkranz and its meaning to the average German. The dedication closed with the singing of "Bundeslied," by the audience and members of the singing societies.

The Beltzhoover Leiderkranz was organized in June, 1896, by seven men, among them being Adolph Demme, who was elected its first president. Meetings were held in a small hall at first, but the membership grew so rapidly that larger quarters were secured. The movement to build a home of their own was launched when the membership reached 130, and ground was purchased and work on the new hall began about three months ago.

The hall is complete in every detail. It is a two-story frame structure, and among other conveniences contains an auditorium with a seating capacity of 800. The hall with furnishings cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

In the evening a concert and dance was given in the hall. All of the visiting societies occupied places in the program. They were: St. Clair Mannechor, German Liederkranz, Singing Section of the Allentown Turn-Verein, Troy Hill Liedertafel, German-Hungarian society of Mt. Oliver, Odd Fellows Liedertafel, Germania Sangerbund and the Harmonia Quartette. The feature of the evening was the singing of the chorus made up by several societies. At the conclusion of the concert, the floor was cleared and dancing followed.

BRYAN LONDON'S GUEST OF HONOR AT THANKSGIVING DAY BANQUET

Western Man and Ambassador Choate Engage in Witty Raillery.

IN THE LAIR OF THE GOLD BUG

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving day was celebrated by the American society in London at a banquet at the Hotel Cecil tonight. There were over 400 covers. William Jennings Bryan was the guest of honor.

The speeches, while flavored by the usual seasonal cheer and references to Anglo-American friendliness, developed particularly into a duel of repartee, good-natured, but almost sub-acid, between Mr. Bryan and Ambassador Choate.

There were a number of notable guests at the banquet, including the duke of Marlborough, Earl Denbigh of the Honourable artillery company, Lord Davey, Gen. Ian Hamilton, Gilbert Parker, Maj. Arthur Lee, formerly attache at Washington, now civil lord of the admiralty; Sir Montague F. Ommanney, all the ambassadors in London, Miss Evans, Mrs. Ronalds, Countess Denbigh, Maj. Budworth of the Honourable artillery company, and several members of the house of commons.

The duke of Marlborough proposed a toast to President Roosevelt and, addressing himself to the interests which England and the United States have in common, referred in terms of the highest praise to President Roosevelt and spoke feelingly of the late Sir Michael Herbert.

Choate Chaffs Bryan.

Ambassador Choate, responding to the toast to his health which was proposed in complimentary terms by Lord Davey, took up the duke of Marlborough's reference to the mutual sympathies of the American and British peoples and said that there had been reason heretofore to suspect some such sentiment on the part of the duke, since he had set an example in one form of the Anglo-American alliance on which the people of both countries were able to look with entire approval. Turning to Mr. Bryan, Mr. Choate said it was the custom of Americans torn from their native shores to gather annually and return thanks. The American Society in London had now among them another of these exiles, for whom personally he, as ambassador, had been doing the best he could. He had taken Mr. Bryan to visit the Bank of England, where he was able to study the fiscal question in its native lair. The company would be edified, said Mr. Choate, had they heard Mr. Bryan cross examining the governors of the Bank of England. The ambassador said he had asked Mr. Bryan to hear Mr. Asquith, Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Goschen and Lord Rosebery, all within 48 hours, so if his views on the fiscal question were not utterly mixed they would appreciate at least the quality of the man they had before them.

Retort and Compliment.

The speech of the ambassador was followed by an ovation to Mr. Bryan which lasted for several minutes. Mr. Bryan, in responding, paid a graceful tribute to the English guests of the society. He said the highest compliment he was able to pay was that in looking over the tables he was unable to distinguish the English from the American women present. He thanked the British nation for the kindness it had shown in receiving him, the protectionists for letting him land at all and the gold bugs for not having deported him immediately after his arrival. Mr. Bryan said he had profited exceedingly by his visit to the Bank of England. He wanted to call attention, however, to the fact that the murderous attack by an insane man with a revolver on Mr. Kenneth Grahame, the secretary of the bank, occurred the day before he called.

Touching the theme of Thanksgiving day, Mr. Bryan spoke eloquently of the natural resources and advantages of the United States for which the people must return thanks to God, and of the ideals of liberty and progress, for which they must thank their English progenitors. He urged the necessity of the present generation bequeathing to posterity some gift commensurate with the blessings they had received from their ancestors and suggested that they bequeath the ideal of international amity, of which The Hague arbitration tribunal was a lasting monument.

"Hail to the Nation," concluded Mr. Bryan, "whatever her name, who leads the world toward this higher ideal for the lasting good of all humanity."

American Church Dedicated.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Three hundred members of the American colony here attended a Thanksgiving banquet at the Kaiserhof tonight. Ambassador Tower, who presided, proposed toasts to President Roosevelt, Emperor William and the German royal family. Prof. W. A. Brown of Union seminary, delivered an address on "American Ideals." The felicitations of the colony were cabled to President Roosevelt. Dancing followed the banquet.

The Crown Prince Frederick William, in behalf of Emperor William, took part today in the dedication of the new American church, sitting between Ambassador Tower and Mrs. Tower. He followed the service attentively, occasionally participating in the responses. The empress telegraphed to the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Dickie, regretting that she could not be present on account of her husband's indisposition and sent the court chamberlain, Count Von Muelinen, to represent her. Chancellor Von Buelow was represented by Privy Councilor Conrad. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Van Slyke and Prof. A. Brown of New York. Dr. Dickie preached the sermon.

President Roosevelt wrote to the pastor as follows:

"I am glad to learn that your church building is to be dedicated on Thanksgiving day. I congratulate you on this happy result of the persistent and self-denying labors of yourself and your associates, and wish you all many happy years of enjoyment of the sanctuary you have thus secured."

The Day in Other Capitals.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—Ambassador McCormick has gone to Moscow for a few days, while the embassy is moving into its new quarters and, consequently, there was no official Thanksgiving celebration. W. E. Smith, a prominent American resident of this city, gave a dinner which was attended by the American colony. The toasts were to the president of the United States and to the czar.

ROME, Nov. 26.—For the first time on record a special service was held here on Thanksgiving day in the Catholic church of San Silvestro. Monsignor Robert Seton, of Newark, N. J., titular archbishop of Heliopolis, giving the benediction. The church was filled, all the members of the English pilgrimage now in Rome being present.

Ambassador and Mrs. Meir gave a reception this evening which was largely attended. Those present included members of the diplomatic corps, the court and the Roman aristocracy, Senator Pierantoni, consul for Italy at The Hague tribunal in the Venezuela case, Venton R. McCreery, first secretary of the United States embassy in Mexico, and Miss McCreery, Mrs. Robert W. Patterson of Chicago, sister of the wife of the American ambassador to Russia, and Miss Patterson, and Mr. and Mrs. Dancleferiner of New Port.

FLORENCE, Nov. 26.—In celebration of Thanksgiving day services in Protestant and Catholic churches were attended by the members of the American colony. A banquet was given tonight and among those present were Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), Consul J. A. Smith, Thomas Ford, George Gregory and Admiral Watson.

VIENNA, Nov. 26.—United States Ambassador Storer and Mrs. Storer held their first Thanksgiving day reception at the embassy this afternoon. About 200 persons were present, including a large representation of the American colony of Vienna, a number of tourists and all the members of the staff on the embassy.

SAN JUAN, P. I., Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving day was observed here as a general holiday in accordance with the governor's proclamation.

MUNICH, BAVARIA, Nov. 26.—The American colony here celebrated Thanksgiving day by a banquet tonight at which over 200 were present.

United States Consul General Worman proposed a toast to the prince regent of Bavaria and spoke on the cordial relations existing between Germany and the United States. Prof. Mayr, formerly under secretary of state, made the principal address and spoke of the peaceful character of the economic struggle between the people of the United States and those of Germany.

The professor proposed a toast to the health of President Roosevelt which was received with hearty applause. A dance brought the celebration to a close.

THREE TOWNS HIT BY FLAMES

CHARLESTON LOSES A BLOCK

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MARIETTA, O., Nov. 26.—This city was visited today by one of the most destructive fires in years. The National Glass Company's large plant was totally destroyed, entailing a loss of $125,000. The fire was caused by an explosion of gas in the engine room.

The night crew had completed its labors and Assistant Engineer George Weinstock had gone to the engine room to turn off the power. As he left the explosion occurred and in a few minutes the entire structure was a mass of flames. Winestock was seriously injured by being burned about the head and hands. Thomas Charlton, a foreman, was hit in stomach by timbers. A large number of employes were in the building and had a narrow escape. Over 200 persons are thrown out of employment.

The plant was one of the largest branches of the National Glass company of Pittsburgh and had a pay roll of $2,600 per month. Had it not been for a strong easterly wind the damage would not have been so great. The heat was intense and the firemen could not do effective work, but nearby factories were saved. The factory may not be rebuilt.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Nov. 26.—Fire today caused a loss here of between $60,000 and 75,000. The fire started in the wholesale and retail stores of the W. E. Shawver company in the Baer block on Kanawha street. The building, a four-story brick, owned by Benjamin Baer, was occupied by the Shawver Company and Baer's liquor store. The former's loss is probably $40,000 with $15,000 insurance, while the latter's loss to building and stock is estimated at $30,000 with $25,000 insurance. Adjoining property was damaged to the extent of several thousand dollars. Richard Stanley, a cook in the restaurant adjoining the Baer building was seriously injured by a falling wall.

The entire plant of the American Column and Banister Company in St. Albans, this county, was destroyed by fire this morning. The blaze originated from the boiler. The loss is estimated at $80,000, with a small amount of insurance. Over 100 men will be thrown out of work.

MONONGAHELA, PA., Nov. 26.—Three two-story frame buildings, valued at $5,000, were destroyed at 3 o'clock this morning by a fire which is thought to have been of incendiary origin. Mrs. George Watson, who resided in the second story of one of the buildings with her four children, had a narrow escape.

She and her little ones escaped in their night clothing. Mrs. Walker lost everything and there was no insurance on her goods.

The buildings were occupied by J. M. Langendorf, a jeweler; Albert Hilton, a barber, and Yee Wah Sing, a laundryman. The fire started in an alley between the buildings occupied by Langendorf and Hilton. Two men were seen to leave the alley shortly before the alarm was given by Mrs. Watson. All of Langendorf's stock was removed but he suffered much loss from thieves during the fire. Mayor Bentley caught one man running away with three clocks. A number of other buildings were scorched. Hilton's loss will be $1,500 with $500 insurance.

Pastor Called to Sewickley.

The First Baptist church of Sewickley has extended a unanimous call to the Rev. H. R. Rankin, formerly pastor for six years of a Philadelphia church and later for three years pastor at Easton, Pa. It is expected that he will take up the work in Sewickley the first Sunday in December.

GLORIES OF THE YELLOWSTONE PARK

Burton Holmes Takes an Eager Audience Through Nation's Great Wonderland of West.

The second in the series of "Travel Talks" by Mr. Burton Holmes drew a fine audience to Carnegie Music hall last evening. Starting from Livingston, Mon., Mr. Holmes conducted his hearers by stage along the celebrated routes of travel through the Yellowstone National park, revealing at every stage of the journey new wonders by means of colored and motion pictures that are unexcelled in beauty and clearness. Mr. Holmes very justly declares that language is inadequate in describing the scenes that the photographer flashed upon the canvas, and yet so clearly does he tell the story and so close was his own personal observation that you feel at the end of the lecture that you have done the next best thing to actually visiting the park itself. The famous geysers, the splendid Yellowstone River canon, with its waterfalls and marvelous granite walls of mingled colors, together with news here and there of personal incidents, amusing and otherwise, make up the series of pictures. In form and expression the Yellowstone lecture is one of the most beautiful that Mr. Holmes has so far given. In simile, poetry of expression and beauty of oratory the lecture is quite in keeping with the dignity and grandeur of the subject.

The Yellowstone lecture will be delivered at Carnegie hall, Allegheny, tonight at 8:15.

THOMSON MILLIONS TO BUILD GIRLS' HOME

Pet Charity of Former Pennsy President Will Now Be Carried Out.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The death of Mrs. J. Edgar Thomson, widow of one of the early presidents of the Pennsylvania railroad, will make available a fund estimated at not less than $2,000,000 for the care and education of the orphan daughters of Pennsylvania railroad employes.

The plans for this great charity were arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Thomson before the latter's death some years ago, and it was to become operative upon the death of Mrs. Thomson. Mrs. Thomson, however, did not await the death to inaugurate the plan, for in 1851 she established a retreat where 16 orphan girls could be properly cared for and fitted for the struggles of life. At the time of the establishment of this home arrangements were made so far as the land was concerned for the larger establishment which now will be built. Under the plans which had been completed before Mrs. Thomson's death buildings for the accommodation of 300 girls will be erected. They will be fitted up in the best possible manner and with all the most modern appurtenances for the health and comfort of the inmates and to give them as well thorough education and training along lines which will best fit them to become self-supporting. The scheme to benefit the unfortunate children of the employes of the great system of which he was the head was one of Mr. Thomson's hobbies and it met with the hearty sympathy of his wife. It is said that the Vanderbilts have under consideration the establishment of a similar institution for the benefit of the orphans of the employes of their lines and it is not improbable that other great railway systems will take similar action.

GREAT PIANIST TO APPEAR.

Harold Bauer the Soloist at the Pittsburgh Orchestra Concert This Evening.

One of the notable concerts of the year will be given this evening by the Pittsburgh orchestra, Victor Herbert conductor, and repeated tomorrow afternoon. The program includes a new symphony by Henry Hadley and one of the glowing Wagner numbers.

The soloist is Harold Bauer of Paris, a pianist of international celebrity, in fact, with Paderewski Mr. Bauer has the first position in the world. He is 25 years old and the critical authority of two continents has given him unreserved praise. Mr. Bauer played with the orchestra two years ago, and the impression of that performance still remains. As will be seen below, his numbers are most interesting, the Tschaikowsky concerto, in particular, being one of the great works of this kind for pianoforte and orchestra. The program is as follows:

Symphony No. 2, "The Four Seasons"..... Hadley
Concerto for pianoforte and orchestra in B flat minor..... Tschaikowsky
Intermission.
Siegfried's Rhine Journey from "Die Gotterdammerung"..... Wagner
For piano solo: Impromptu in A flat..... Schubert
For piano solo, Etude en forme de Valse..... Saint Saens
Hungarian March..... Schubert-Liszt

All the seats for the afternoon concerts are reserved at 50 cents each and there is good choice for the evening concerts of over 500 seats remaining, in price from $2 to $1.

Price's Field Goal Brought Victory to the Local School Eleven

GOAL BY PRICE WINS CLOSE GAME

Shadyside Boy Drops It from Field, and Cleveland West-High is Defeated.

ALL-PITTSBURGH DOES WELL

Pittsburgh's All-Interscholastic football team defeated the West High school team of Cleveland by the close score of 5 to 0 in a well played game at Friendship park yesterday afternoon. The contest was clean and spirited with scarcely an objectionable feature. Weight was about evenly divided and Pittsburgh won because Price could kick better than Fairbanks, who did the punting for the Cleveland boys. The features of the game were Price's drop kick after Williams' run of 40 yards and Fairbanks' two runs in the second half which almost turned the tide of battle.

The ground was hard and covered with a light fall of snow. Five hundred spectators braved pneumonia to cheer their classmates and friends. Referee Joe Thompson, captain of the Geneva college eleven, blew the whistle for the kick-off at 3:18. Williams lifted the pigskin 40 yards to Terrell, who brought back the kick 10 yards. Steady line plunges by Fairbanks, Hopkins and Bennage, Cleveland's backs, brought the ball to the middle of the field. Cleveland was playing a fine game and clearly out-played the Pittsburgh boys for the first few minutes. Harper fell on the ball in the center of the field after Fairbanks fumbled. Williams gained five yards on the first plunge. A mix-up of signals lost the ball for Pittsburgh, but Cleveland was forced to punt as they could not make the distance. Williams got the punt on Pittsburgh's 20-yard line. Price fumbled, but recovered and advanced the ball two yards. Williams made it first down. Ahl made a splendid 25-yard run around Cleveland's right end.

Pittsburgh had to kick after bringing the ball back to the middle of the field. Terrell ran the punt back 10 yards and was downed on his 25-yard line. Cleveland again started her backs in succession at Pittsburgh line and advanced the leather past the middle of the field when Spuhler got a fumble in a scrimmage. Williams plunged through center for five yards. Then Pittsburgh's backs and quarters did not work right and two misplays were made without advancing the ball.

Williams' Long Run.

Bialas dropped back as though to kick and the rest of the team formed up for a fake-kick. Williams was given the ball and with splendid interference brought the leather to within nine yards of Cleveland's goal when Fairbanks downed him. Harper was given the ball for an end run but was thrown for a loss of seven yards. Price dropped back to about 23 yards from the goal and placed the leather between the uprights by a clever drop kick. This was the only scoring of the game. Hopkinson was hurt in the scrimmage following the punt-out from the 25-yard line and Beach took his place. The half closed a minute later with the ball in Cleveland's possession on Pittsburgh's 50-yard line.

Cleveland came onto the field for the second half without a change in her line up, while Pittsburgh made several. Price took Williams' places at left end and Bauer, of the High School, went in at quarter. Donnolly took Lang's place at guard and Johns went in at tackle. Fairbanks kicked off for Cleveland. Williams received the kick and brought it back five yards. Bauer executed several quarter back kicks in this half and made good gains, coupled with a quarter back kick. In the middle of the field Cleveland held and Bauer punted over Fairbanks' head. The ball rolled to within 12 yards of Cleveland's goal before Fairbanks finally fell on it.

Pittsburg held for downs and Fairbanks punted the ball to the 35-yard line. O'Donnell broke the line on the next play and threw Ahl for a loss of three yards. Bauer made up for it by a clever quarterback kick, which Price caught and advanced the ball for 10 yards before he was downed. Ahl made five yards round the end and line plunges by Williams and Bialas brought the ball to within 15 yards of Pittsburgh's goal. Cleveland's line steadied and Pittsburgh could make no gains in the next two attempts. Price again dropped back for a goal from the field and missed, adding five more points for Pittsburgh by the small margin of a foot. Fairbanks kicked off from Cleveland's 25-yard mark. Harper caught another of Bauer's clever quarterback kicks and made a run back of 25 yards before he was thrown. Cleveland held and got the ball on a fumble in a scrimmage.

Fairbanks Shows His Mettle.

Two line plunges netted no gain for Cleveland and Fairbanks punted to the middle of the field. Price got another quarterback kick and made 20 yards, when he fumbled by being thrown hard. Cleveland got the ball on the fumble and made 12 yards. Pittsburgh held for downs but could not gain. Fairbanks got the punt after the third down and ran it back from his 10-yard line to the middle of the field. Cleveland could not gain by line plunges and formed for a kick. Fairbanks got the ball on this fake formation, and the hearts of the loyal Pittsburghers stood in their throats as they saw him cut loose and sprint for his goal line with the leather tucked securely under his arm. Price and Williams forced him out of bounds about 18 yards from the Pittsburgh goal. The ball was brought in 20 yards and after two ineffectual attempts at line plunging Fairbanks attempted a goal from the field at a difficult angle and missed the goal.

Bill Orr was substituted for Williams and the game ended three minutes later with the ball in Cleveland's possession, after Fairbanks had made another long run from the middle of the field.

Fairbanks, O'Donnell and Terrell did the best work for Cleveland and each of the members of the team deserve credit, as they fought every inch of the ground. Price, Williams, Ahl and Harper were good ground gainers for Pittsburgh.

After the game the Cleveland boys gave a cheer for the Pittsburghers. The game was free from slugging and only once was a penalty imposed, and that was on Pittsburgh for coaching from the side lines. It was a good game throughout and commendable words were spoken by the spectators, both for the cleanness of the game and the good work of the coming varsity stars. Lineup:

YOST'S ELEVEN BEAT MAROONS

Coach Staggs' Illness Took Ginger Out of Chicago Players and Victory Was Easy.

MONSTER CROWD ON HAND

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—While Coach Stagg lay bundled up in blankets in a closed carriage, at Marshall Field today, Coach Yost's Michigan football players overwhelmed the Chicago team in the annual Thanksgiving day contest 28 to 0. All records for attendance were broken, fully 20,000 enthusiastic spectators braving a heavy snowfall to see the game.

Considerable delay was experienced in starting the game, due to the labor of sweeping the snow off the gridiron. The Chicago eleven had a decided handicap in the illness of Coach Stagg. A fever that gave his physician considerable alarm put Stagg under orders to remain indoors. But Chicago has always fought hardest against Michigan and Stagg desired to be near to cheer on his men.

The usual ginger of the Chicago eleven was missing. Michigan scored her first touchdown in 12 minutes of play by smashing Heston and Longman against the yielding Chicago line and using big Joe Maddock, the sturdy right tackle, for first downs when a few yards were needed.

The left side of Chicago was particularly vulnerable, and Speik, Parry and Wightman were swept aside by the rushes of Heston and Graver. Five times did Eckersall only stand between Heston and the goal after Michigan's wonderful ground-gainer had circled left end. So desperate was Eckersall's tackling that he had to give way to Lee Maxwell in the second half. Eckersall did not do well in kicking, as was predicted by those who had watched his work when his goals from the field won the game from Wisconsin. On Chicago's right side where Schurr, Catlin and Maxwell proved strong in defense, Michigan did not net so many gains.

Holding Michigan only once for downs in the first half and having the ball in her possession only three times, Chicago displayed football strength no higher than that of teams the Maroons have beaten in practice. This removed Chicago from the front of western claimants for the championship. It was Chicago's first defeat by an eastern team.

A slight shifting of Chicago's players in the second half brought out a dash of the old offense, but it was due greatly to the individual efforts of Bendek and Nordenholt and proved barren of substantial results, and all in vain did Stagg direct the movement of new forces from his carriage. The lineup:

Iowa Braced Up and Won.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—In a fiercely fought contest Iowa university today defeated Washington university on the gridiron 12 to 2. MYSTERIOUS MISSION OF PIRATES' PRESIDENT

Owner Dreyfuss Starts for the East and Is Likely on the Trail of New Pitchers.

President Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh baseball club is nothing if not mysterious these days. He is in the east now and there is no telling when he will return to this city. The notion to go east struck him suddenly and he departed for the gay metropolis last night on the 10 o'clock train, without as much as saying "by your leave" to his constituents.

The real object of the eastern visit is not known, but there is a suspicion that it has something to do with the coming meeting of the National league. He was down on the card to make a journey over to Porktown and have a heart-to-heart talk with Garry Herrmann, but for reasons best known to himself he called that meeting off and goes east instead of west.

It is thought that the Pirates' owner has a deal on which he is engineering, and he wants to have things pat before saying anything on the subject. One thing is certain, and that is that he now has in his possession the contract of a player who must be a wonderful thing of a cracker-jack, judging by the way he fondles the contract and the care he is taking that nothing about the new player leaks out. The name of this player is held down to a select few outside of the club owner, but they are under a pledge of secrecy not to divulge the man's name.

The Pirates' owner intimated on Wednesday that he might be able to give out some information on Saturday regarding the new players he has under consideration, but this trip to the east is likely to upset all plans of that kind. That Dreyfuss is not worried over the pitcher problem is apparent from his conversation, and it is more than likely that the contract which is being kept under cover bears the name of a star twirler.

FORKUM WAS ELECTED CAPTAIN OF STATE'S TEAM

New Castle Boy Honored for Clever Playing—Thanksgiving Game May Be Annual.

Carl Forkum, the New Castle boy, who played fullback for the State college eleven in yesterday's game and was the star of the contest was last night elected captain of the team for the coming year. Forkum was a former Wash-Jeff student and played on the eleven of that college, but went to State two years ago.

The election of the captain took place at a banquet tendered the team after the game at the Monongahela house and the selection of Forkum proved a very popular one with both the players and the officials. The State boys broke training right after the game and they celebrated their clever victory in a quiet way.

It is more than likely that the Thanksgiving day game between State and Wash-Jeff will be an annual fixture in the future. The matter was talked over yesterday between the officials and both sides appeared pleased over such a prospect. The good feeling displayed between the players in yesterday's game will have much to do with bringing such a result about. The matter will now be taken up by the faculty of each college and there is little doubt of the result. It is the determination to have these contests take place in this city, as the people showed yesterday that games between college teams of equal strength is what they want.

A special from State College says: "When the result of the State and W. and J. game was received here the student body went veritably wild. While all hoped for a victory not even the most sanguine were confident of such a decided result. Parades were quickly formed and with college songs and class yells the students marched around the college, while bon-fires were lighted and speeches made by members of the faculty and others. It was a great evening for State, the greatest closing of the football season ever witnessed here.

KENTUCKY WON GAME.

State's "Ringers" Proved to Be Useless Players.

LEXINGTON, KY., Nov. 26.—The riot which was expected in the Kentucky university and State college football game today as the result of a bitter controversy carried on for two weeks, failed to materialize. This was due principally to the police precautions. Both teams were heavily loaded with ringers for an emergency, it having been agreed that "no questions should be asked." Kentucky university, however, played its regular team throughout, and not a man was put out of the game. State college lined up with "nine ringers," who were replaced six times by other ringers. Kentucky university won by a score of 17 to 0. Kentucky university made two touchdowns and a goal in the first half, and one touchdown and goal in the second half. At least $15,000 was bet on the game. Attendance, 3,000.

CLAUDE WON HANDICAP.

Big Crowd Saw Thanksgiving Races at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Eight thousand people saw the Thanksgiving handicap at a mile and a furlong at Oakland today. The race was won by Claude, the frequent Derby winner. Claude was added late last evening. Proper was favorite, while 8 to 1 was put against Claude. The Daly horse went to the front and was never headed, winning easily from Fossil and Grail, two outsiders. The event had a value of $3,190, of which $2,320 went to the winner. The sport was marred by two accidents. Soon after the start in the third race, Earl W. staggered and fell dead from heart failure. Jockey Kung escaped injury. In the last event, Angle C. stumbled and fell, throwing J. Lewis to the ground with much force. The boy was stunned but escaped injury.

Dravosburg Beats a Rival.

A championship game was played yesterday between the Dravosburg and the National Tube works team of McKeesport on the Dravosburg grounds, which resulted in a victory for Dravosburg 5 to 0.

LATROBE WINS GAME IN LAST FEW MINUTES

Takes Ball from Philadelphia's Eight-Yard Line Down Field for Touchdown.

LATROBE, PA., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—The Latrobe Y. M. C. A. team won its ninth consecutive victory and finished a successful season without a defeat this afternoon when in the presence of 2,000 people it defeated the strong P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. team of Philadelphia by the score of 6 to 0. The single touchdown was made by Lawson near the close of the second half, and after a series of most exciting incidents.

Latrobe was outweighed, but the fast playing of the locals more than made up for the difference in weight, and the visitors were swept off their feet by the rapid fire series of plays fired against them. The first half was evenly played, both sides gaining about the same distances. In the second half, however, both teams played with desperation.

Philadelphia, by a series of mass plays, with Miller carrying the ball four times out of five, took the ball from their own 20-yard line to Latrobe's 8-yard line and a touchdown was in sight, when Miller was thrown so hard by Wolf that he dropped the ball. Lawson fell on it and then Latrobe started with its fast plays. Play after play was made, always resulting in gains, and it was not until the middle of the third that Philadelphia was able to stop the rushes and compelled Latrobe to kick. Lawson punted for 40 yards. Philadelphia could not gain, and attempted to kick. The ball went low, fumbled and Capt. Ryan fell on it. In four rushes Latrobe carried the ball from the visitor's 20-yard line over for a touchdown. Lawson carrying the ball and Brallier kicking the goal. The enthusiasm of the crowd was so great that all crowded out over the field and Lawson was hoisted high on the shoulders of the crowd. The game ended two minutes later, with the ball in Latrobe's possession in the center of the field. The line-up:

Latrobe—5.		Philadelphia—0.
McDyre	L. E.	Hayes

EAST END IS BEATEN BY FRANKLIN, 23 TO 0

Pittsburghers Put Up Best Game of Year for Up-Country Champions.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

FRANKLIN, PA., Nov. 26.—Franklin defeated the East End Athletic team of Pittsburgh today, 23 to 0. So far as Franklin is concerned, the game gave them the championship of the country, and leaves the home team with a clean record of all games won and a total of 304 points to their opponent's none. The icy condition of the ground made it impossible for fast plays today and line backing was resorted to by both sides. The visitors played a fast game from start to finish and their teamwork was better than any visiting team that has been here this season. Over 1,500 people were present and the game was by long odds the best of the season. Lineup:

Franklin—23.		East End—0.

Weathered Oak Writing Desk

The desk illustrated above is plain in construction, but there is a charm in its simplicity that is readily appreciated.

The great advantage of a desk of this kind is that it will look well in the company of almost any furniture. Although not pretentious in appearance it is the kind of a desk that will harmonize with the most elegant surroundings.

There are many varieties of desks for both the home and office in this stock, but none is better adapted for its particular purpose than the one here shown. It is made of weathered oak and is as serviceable and complete in its appointments as it is artistic in design. It is of good size and is provided with roomy compartments—is 34½ inches long, 18 inches deep and 43¼ inches high.

Then the very moderate cost lends additional attraction. You will find all prices reasonable at

TRACK WAS SLIPPERY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—C. K. G. Billings, the owner of Lou Dillon, had intended to drive the queen of trotters on the Speedway today, but when he brought her out and found the surface of the Speedway in such a slippery condition he merely jogged her over the road and sent her back to her stable.

C. W. Marks, who purchased Tom Keene from E. E. Smathers on Wednesday, drove the chestnut pacer today in several brushes with the best ones on the road. The horse behaved well and displayed a lot of speed, but seemed to be slightly overmatched when he met such flyers as James A. Murphy's Don Derby.

VANDERBILT ENTERS.

Will Take Part in the Florida Auto Race.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., today entered the automobile races that will be held for two weeks beginning January 25, at Ormond-Daytona beach, Florida, under the auspices of the Florida East Coast association.

Mr. Vanderbilt thinks that he can make a new record at one mile. The record is 49 seconds, made in France. The American record is 51 4-5 seconds, made by Henry Fournier over the Coney Island boulevard course two years ago. In the 30-mile course along the beach in Florida, all is straightaway and on this route Mr. Vanderbilt has confidence that he can make the time for one mile, with his 90 horsepower Mors machine, in 45 seconds.

Amateur Elevens Fought Bitter Battles

CORNELL ELEVEN BADLY CRUSHED

The Ithicans Played the Poorest Kind of Ball and Were No Match for Penn's Team.

LYNOP'S COSTLY FUMBLE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Penna wound up her football season of disappointment today by defeating Cornell by the overwhelming score of 42 to 0. It was the best game that the Red and Blue has played this fall. Cornell, except for the first five minutes of play, was powerless to stop the attack and her efforts to gain ground were equally futile. As the game progressed the Quaker attacking grew more fierce, while Cornell's defense was made to appear correspondingly weak.

After rolling up 22 points in the first half the Pennsylvania eleven came back in the second half and piled up 20 more. Only twice during the game were the Ithaca boys able to hold Penn for downs, and they gained their decision only five times, and these nearly all by fake plays. There was a flash of fire in Cornell's opening play, but after losing the ball on a miserable fumble when well in the Quaker's territory, the spark seemed to suddenly disappear.

Pennsylvania won the toss and took the west goal with a slight wind at her back. Brewster's punt was carried back 15 yards from Penn's goal line. Then by short plunges into the line Pennsylvania carried the ball to her 45-yard line. Here Cornell held firmly and Reynolds was forced to kick. It was Cornell's ball on her 35-yard mark. On the first lineup Rice got around Pennsylvania's left end for a beautiful run of 48 yards, but on the very next play Cornell lost the ball on a fumble. This was the only time the ball was in striking distance of the Quakers' goal, except when Brewster missed kick.

Early in the second half Brewster was forced to retire on account of injuries and Lynap took his place. Penn's big score in the second half was due partially to Lynap's poor work in the back field. He misjudged several punts, which rolled many yards into Cornell's territory, which Brewster would almost surely have caught. Then his passing from center to the runner was at times wretched.

Pennsylvania was penalized for a total of 20 yards for off-side play and holding, while Cornell suffered for infractions of the rule only thrice. The Quakers seemed more resourceful in plays than they have at any time during the season, and varied their attack to good advantage. All of their touchdowns, however, were made by straight football.

Bennett's work at fullback and Mulford's playing at quarter was particularly brilliant. Several times the big fullback carried four or five Cornell players on his back for from five to ten yards before he could be thrown. The lineup was as follows:

Pennsylvania—42.		Cornell—0.
Weede	L. E.	Hackstaff
Barlow, Ziegler	L. T.	Costello

Taylor	C.	Davitt, Newman

THERE ARE RUMORS THAT FIGHT WAS NOT SQUARE

Fitzsimmons' Odd Actions Regarding Betting Is Looked on as Queer—Fight a Failure.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Nov. 26.—No contest that the San Francisco ring has known has left a greater feeling of disappointment behind it than the Fitzsimmons-Gardner fight. Sporting men are disgusted with the wretched display furnished by the two heavyweights and all kinds of rumors are in progress reflecting upon the sincerity of the affair.

One section of the fight followers believe that Fitzsimmons could have finished Gardner at any time after the fourth round if he had so wished, but this view is met with the argument that the fast work in the fourth and fifth rounds took all the vim out of Fitzsimmons and showed him to be the pugilistic wreck that he is.

Fitzsimmons was inconsistent in his advice to his cronies as to placing their bets, and this also has made the Cornishman the subject of censure. To Louis Metzger, one of his closest friends in this city, he gave a warning not to wager any money on the fight. On the day of the battle Fitzsimmons' opinion of his chances changed, for he advised Adolph Spreckels and others to wager on him. Mr. Spreckels bet $2,000 on Fitzsimmons when the two men were selling at even money. It is rumored that all the "smart men" of the turf, such as Joe Harlan, Danny Lynch and Jim Davis bet heavily on Gardner. It is estimated that about $75,000 was wagered on the fight in San Francisco alone.

The promoters were grievously disappointed over the receipts. It was expected that at least $50,000 would be taken in at the doors. Instead the fight only realized a little over $16,000. Of this the fighters got half, and Fitzsimmons received an additional 10 per cent. This brought Fitzsimmons' share up to $8,163. Gardner received $2,054.

Fitzsimmons admits that he is no longer a terror at the fight game, but says he could have done better last night if his hands had not gone back on him. This excuse is accepted with bad grace by the sportsmen, as they claim that Fitzsimmons has been in possession of the same old "bad hands" in every fight of his career, whether it proved a winning or a losing battle.

Fitzsimmons intends to leave for the east in a day or two. He says it is his purpose to open a swell cafe and school of physical culture in Chicago. Gardner will take his departure shortly for Memphis to attend to some race horses he has there.

CRAFTON AND GRUVER PLAY WITHOUT RESULT

Neither Side Scores in Game Which Would Have Decided a Championship.

Before a crowd of almost 3,000 people the Crafton A. C. and the Gruver A. C. came together yesterday for the championship honors of Chartiers Valley. The game resulted in a score of 0 to 0, although Crafton outplayed its opponents, carrying the ball to the Gruver's three-yard line, when time was called.

Great excitement prevailed during the last 10 minutes of play, and it looked as though Crafton would force the ball over Gruver's goal, but the crowd at this juncture surged upon the field and interfered with a play that would have undoubtedly netted a touchdown and the game, as Shipp, who was then past the line of scrimmage, had a clear field.

PLEASANT, PA., Nov. 26.—Despite a heavy downfall of snow, a large crowd witnessed the last game of the season here this afternoon between the Sterlings and a team composed of players from the High School and Reserve elevens, and by winning the game, 12 to 0, the Sterlings scored their fifth consecutive victory and closed the season without being scored against. During the first half neither side scored and the half ended with the ball on the Sterlings' 18-yard line. The second half began by the All Stars kicking to the Sterlings, and McDonald, for the latter, secured the ball and ran nearly the length of the field for the first touchdown, with the ball on their 20-yard line. MADISON, WIS., Nov. 26.—Minnesota 17, Wisconsin 0, is the score of the game that today marked the close of the football season for the teams mentioned. The end of the first half found the score Minnesota 0, Wisconsin 0, and Wisconsin's hopes were high. Though Capt. Abbott was out of the game early in the first half, Wisconsin still hoped to triumph. But in the final stage of the contest these hopes vanished.

CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY LYCEUM

Takes Amateur Honors of the County by Beating Pastimes on the Bluff, 34 to 0.

BIG CROWD SEES THE GAME

On the Pittsburgh college ground yesterday in the presence of 2,000 people the Lyceum team defeated the Pastimes 34 to 0. The crowd seemed to be equally divided. The fact that the game was to decide the amateur championship of Allegheny county added great interest to the contest. The game started with Allison kicking to McMerney on the 10-yard line. After returning the ball 20 yards Lyceum started a march towards the Pastime goal. By successive line plunging, with a few end runs, the ball was within striking distance of goal. McMerney was pushed over. McMahon kicked an easy goal.

Brandel kicked off to the 10-yard line, where the Pastime player was downed almost in his tracks. After two attempts to advance the ball the Pastimes lost it on a fumble. The Lyceum now started a second movement towards their opponent's goal. McMahon took the ball and by a splendid run around left end got to the two-yard line. On the next play Brassel was shoved over for the second touchdown. McMahon kicked goal. With just four minutes to play, Lyceum started a terrible assault upon the life line of their opponents. A neat trick was successfully executed by McMerney and Brassel, which resulted in advancing the ball to the Pastime's 10-yard line when time was called for the end of the half.

The second half began with McMerney kicking to McIntyre, who advanced the ball about five yards. The Pastimes kicked to the center of the field. Lyceum started toward the Pastime's goal with Quinlan plunging through the line for ten yards. Hero Seaman received the ball and with good interference made the sensational run of the game, covering a distance of 60 yards, landing the ball behind the goal posts. McMahon kicked goal. The next touchdown was made by Quinlan, who in three plunges carried the ball for a distance of 35 yards. At this stage Clark replaced Brassel and Reilly took Edkins' place. New vigor seemed to be instilled into the team, for in a short time two more touchdowns were made. In the last 10 minutes of play the fierce line bucking began to tell on the Pastimes, as one by one their players were laid out. Kenna, Sweeney and McKeever time after time broke through the line and tackled the Pastime players before their interference was able to form.

There's a possibility of unreliable, red or bleached Hemlock tanned leather under the paint of every black bottomed shoe.

Regal Shoes are all soled with honest, solid, flexible, durable oak tanned leather. And there's "the Window of the Sole" for you to lift up and see. This is our own invention—simply a detachable seal that covers a spot of naked leather. We never thought of it till our buzz saws, cutting up other makes of shoes, disclosed the fact that 90 per cent. of all $3.50 shoes (other than Regals) were soled with Hemlock leather which wears not half as long as oak tanned.

Until we actually began cutting them up we did not know how much better Regal Shoes were. That made us see the necessity of proving our shoes.

The Regal is the only shoe that proves. It is the only shoe sold at $3.50 that is worth $3.50—Regals are worth $6. They give more than $6.00 worth of style and wear. We are ready to prove it before you buy.

REGAL

THE SHOE THAT PROVES

There are 80 Regal Stores, 20 of them in Greater New York, where the styles originate. The new styles are on sale in our Pittsburgh stores at the same time as in the New York stores. Other dealers get the same styles a year later.

INDIAN TEAM'S VICTORY ON SNOW-COVERED FIELD

The Red Men Put Up a Strong Game and Fairly Outclassed the Western Warriors.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Carlisle Indians in today's game with Northwestern university, demonstrated the superiority of the football that has made the red men formidable gridiron warriors in the east, by defeating the Purple 28 to 0. At times during the one-sided contest snow fell in such blinding swirls that the gridiron and players were concealed from the 3,000 enthusiasts who gathered to root impartially for the Evanston eleven and the popular Indians.

Coach McCormack's eleven was materially weakened by the absence of Guard Phillips from the line. The old Carlisle lineman refused to play against his former colleagues. Watching the game from the stand, Phillips said that had the field been free from snow, Carlisle's speedy backs would have doubled the score.

At no time was Northwestern dangerous on the offensive. Capt. Flieger and his Methodists fought gamely to withstand the almost irresistible attack of the Indians, and Peckinpaugh and Weinberger, the Purple's ends, showed to advantage. Harlan Charles and Shelden Hight but fast as the wind, and Fullback Williams, circled the ends almost at will.

Occasionally when a short gain for first down was needed, Jack Bowen did fine work. Quarterback Johnson ran the team's attack with a bewildering mixture of wing shifts and cross-bucks, followed by fake interference plays that yielded 23 of Carlisle's points. Johnson's brilliant goal from field furnished the other five points. Lineup:

GROVE CITY'S SINGLE TOUCHDOWN WINS GAME

It Is Made Against the Plucky Westminister College Eleven in Annual Contest.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GROVE CITY, PA., Nov. 26.—The largest crowd which has been seen here for several seasons gathered today to witness the annual Thanksgiving football game between Grove City and Westminster colleges. A special from Butler brought out 300 rooters, while Greenville, Mercer, New Castle and other towns in this vicinity were also liberally represented.

The field was covered with two inches of snow which made fumbling frequent, but despite this the struggle was a fierce one, each side playing determined ball, the line of struggle vacillating in such a manner that the enthusiasm of the spectators was at fever heat throughout the game. The locals had the advantage of play at all times and several times had the ball on Westminster's 25 yard line, only to lose it by fumbling. Early in the first half Westminster secured the ball on Grove City's 10-yard line on a fumble, but could not make first down and this was the only time the locals' goal line was in danger. The locals made their single touchdown after carrying the ball 70 yards by short and runs and end and tackle bucking. Locke missed a difficult goal. The lineup:

Sandels	R. E.		McBride
Bozelle	R. T.		Smith
McConnell	R. G.		Rudolph
McCullen	C.		Parsen

Marshall	R. H.		Tennent
Lartimer	L. H.		Crooks

Touchdown—Larimer. Substitutions—Barnes for Marshall, Elliott for Larimer. Referee and umpire, alternating—Simpson and Mynter. Time—25 and 20 minutes.

EAST LIBERTY TOO LIGHT FOR RAYEN HIGH SCHOOL

Youngstown Preps. Circle End and Hit Line at Will, Rolling Up 29 Points.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 26.—Rayen had but little difficulty in defeating East Liberty academy this afternoon by the one-sided score of 29 to 0. The visitors were never dangerous and had it not been for costly fumbling by Rayen at most inopportune times the score would have been much higher. The East Liberty boys were very light and Rayen gained at will through the line or around the ends.

The work of Jones for Rayen was particularly good. The most spectacular play of the day was a punt of 70 yards by Jones on a field covered with two inches of snow. Coach Fauver of Oberlin refereed the contest and gave general satisfaction. It is said he is looking after several Rayen players who graduate this year. The lineup:

Rayen—29.		East Liberty—0.

MANY CONTESTANTS AT BIG TURKEY SHOOT

Youngest Marksman Made the Best Record—Team Contest Will Be Held.

Yesterday was a mournful day for the turkeys, geese and chickens of Baldwin township. It was the day of the annual Thanksgiving shoot, and every marksman, real or pretended, in that section of the county was on hand to try his hand. Over 75 turkeys were awarded as prizes and dozens of geese and scores of pairs of plump chickens were disposed of. The shoot was held at the historic Windsor hotel on the Brownsville road, where Proprietor W. J. Dilck provided good cheer for the crack shots who attended the odd tournament.

Howard Cowan, one of the youngest contestants, was the prize winner. He won nine turkeys and established a record in the neighborhood. A coincidence in his luck is in the fact that he is the descendant of the man who shot the last wild turkey seen in this part of the country, the wood bird having been killed half a mile from the Windsor more than 50 years ago.

Others who made good records were: Henry Schoff, eight turkeys; Peter Schoff, seven turkeys; Thomas Schoff, six turkeys; Rose Kerr, three turkeys; William Gilbert, four turkeys.

Early in December a team shoot will be held and additional prizes will be offered. Only 22 caliber rifles are allowed. No American standard target reduced for a range of 54 feet being used.

Over 100 shooters and 50 turkeys helped to make the prize shoot of the Eulper Rod and Gun club of Etna yesterday a big success. The honors were carried off by Dr. G. A. Spear of Etna and his brother, H. M. Spear. Remarkable work was done by 16-year-old Hays Cox of Etna, who succeeded in securing several fowls.

Charleroi Is Outclassed.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 26.—In an exciting contest in which neither team scored a touchdown, Kansas university defeated Missouri university in the thirteenth annual Thanksgiving game today, by the score of 5 to 0. THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten Is Worthless Unless Digested —Some Stomachs Must Have Help.

Food taken into the stomach which, from the nature of the food or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement as far as it goes and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work, in other words they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten and carry out Nature's plans for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year-old baby. A strong man doing strong work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bone of a broken limb, which is of course not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of everyone.

Hilltop Independent Volunteer Fire Company Celebrates

Scene in Front of the Headquarters and Portrait of Chief August Meahl.

FIREMEN PARADE AND CELEBRATE

FINE RECORD AS FIRE FIGHTERS

The second annual celebration and turkey dinner of the Hilltop Independent Volunteer fire company was held yesterday afternoon at Drabert's hall, 117 Southern avenue. The firemen paraded the streets of Knoxville and Mt. Oliver in the afternoon; in the evening came the dinner and at the same hall there was dancing until early this morning.

The dining hall and the dancing floor were decorated with flags and around the walls were decorations of red, white and blue bunting. The arrangements were nearly perfect and the attendance showed the interest taken in the new company.

This company was organized August 22, 1902. Today it has a roll of over 180 young and active men, with a competent corps of officers. The organization is backed by residents of Knoxville and Mt. Oliver, though there is another volunteer company for the same locality. The new organization recently purchased new equipment and contemplates with much pride, the time when a new fire bell may also be bought.

The officers are Henry Henning, president; August Meahl, vice president; Henry A. Henning, treasurer; J. C. Bouser, secretary; G. A. Ahlborn, L. A. Reich, Edward Henning, Fred Storch and Edward Bubel, directors; John H. Meyer, captain; Leo Macklintosh, first lieutenant; Frank Rauch, second lieutenant, and Edward Rauch, G. G. Pierce and Simon Rienking, fire police. Vice President Meahl is chief of the department and Nicholas Fink is assistant chief. Chief Meahl was marshal of yesterday's celebration.

The parade marched from the company's quarters on Southern avenue to Hansman, to Knox avenue to Arabella street, to Bridge street, to Charles street, to Beltzhoover avenue, to Washington avenue, to Mt. Oliver street, to Johns street, to Amanda street, to Penn avenue, to Charles street, thence from Stamm to Darlington and back to Southern. There were nearly 100 men in line and along the route were plenty of spectators who cheered the volunteers.

An invitation was sent to the brother volunteer company to participate in this parade and other festivities, but there was no response, and Secretary Henning, president of the new organization, said:

"We have," he said, "as good a company of its kind as you will find in the country and the boys are not afraid to face danger of any kind for the protection of property and lives of this locality. Recent fires have proved this. We have young brave blood in our company all through and we are backed by a Ladies' Auxiliary which is assisting in these arrangements today and which lends much inspiration to our work."

MORE ROOM NOW FOR LITTLE FOUNDLINGS

New Buildings of the Roselia Asylum Opened and Inspected by Institution's Friends.

The informal opening of the new portion of the Roselia foundling asylum was held yesterday, and scores of friends of the institution visited it during the day. They were shown through the new building and the old one, which has been thoroughly renovated and it was the general opinion that the buildings are thoroughly equipped for a foundling asylum and maternity hospital.

The institution is in charge of the Sisters of Charity. Ninety-nine children, very few over the age of 2 years, are there and the little ones looked bright and happy yesterday. The old building was too small to enable the sisters to keep the children very long, but it is now hoped to maintain them until they are 5 or 6 years old, although heretofore the sisters have had no trouble in finding families who were glad to adopt the little ones. The asylum is not only for foundlings, for the sisters take in little children whose parents are not able to care for them, while at the same time children are taken from the mothers who died and whose fathers pay for their maintenance.

Conductor Bishop J. F. R. Canevin visited the asylum, celebrated mass in the chapel and gave the sisters his benediction.

NEW SCHOOL DEDICATED.

Over a Year Behind Time, but at Last Ready for Occupancy.

More than a year behind time and after many vexatious delays, the new school building on the West Side, McKeesport, was dedicated yesterday. A flag was flung to the breeze from the building through the courtesy of Hero Council, No. 666, Jr. O. U. A. M., of McKeesport.

The building was crowded with school children, the board of controllers and parents, as well as members of various organizations.

The dedicatory address was delivered by County Superintendent Samuel Hamilton, after the exercises had been opened by an invocation by the Rev. James Law. The building was accepted for the city by Supt. J. Burdette Richey of the public schools. Charles A. Westerman presented the flag on behalf of Hero Council, and Attorney J. F. Calhoun of McKeesport received it on behalf of the school children. Prof. W. C. Knotts delivered a brief address, which was followed by the benediction, pronounced by the Rev. James E. Walker.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT HUNT CLUB

Annual Thanksgiving Chase Attracted Large Crowd at Boulevard Grounds.

LUNCHEON AT FARMHOUSE

The Thanksgiving decorations of dried apples, pumpkins and corn which were hung in festoons over the tables in the grill room of the old stone farmhouse on the Pittsburgh Country club grounds betokened more than the usual good cheer yesterday when half a score of hungry hunters returned from the annual chase after the hounds. An ideal snowstorm had done more than emphasize the drag. It has given the members of the Pittsburgh Hunt club the zest of good appetites and had made the scene one of significant and picturesque memory. The informal dinner which followed was a fitting climax to the day's sport.

When Jack, the huntsman, lit his corncob pipe and sat down in the stables he grew reminiscent. For five years he has been the central figure in the Hunt club's runs. He is a graduate of the high hurdles in the old world, where he has followed many a fox over ditches and hedges surrounded by the scions of English nobility. Jack—nobody knows him by any other name—has now been thoroughly Americanized. While the smoke curled from his pipe he gave heed to the panting hounds and the snorts of the tired jumpers in the stalls.

"I wouldn't exchange the hills o' Hants or the downs o' York or Nottingham for this run here around the trolley cars," he said. "In Notts there's still the fawn and in Hants there's foxes to be found in plenty, but nowhere on the isle do you find better hurdles or more romantic checks. And what a British lord would give for such a scurry as we had this day. Britain is sorry for no Thanksgiving day and no Thanksgiving chase."

In yesterday's run there was an unusual number of participants and the big gallery lined the hill. The start was made at the second club house and followed through the orchard, down into the hollow northwest of the truck farm, and up the hill over the boulevard. The first check was on the property of H. C. Frick, on the second is the Homestead bridge. Frank M. Lowry, master of the hounds, led the way. It was no new course to him or to the majority of the riders, but the fine condition of the drag and the splendid work of the hounds made the run one of exhilirating enjoyment.

In their coats of scarlet, the riders made a pretty picture as they rode along the snow-clad hills. The riders were: Mr. Lowry, H. L. Collins, Miss Edith Flinn, Miss Denny of Waynesburg; Miss Ida Fisher, J. R. Phillips, W. W. Flannegan, H. N. Van Voorhis, A. M. Irwin, Palmer Collins, D. H. Collins and P. E. Donner.

The hunt was held at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and about an hour was consumed in the chase. An informal luncheon was held in the stone house at the close, while the women riders were entertained at the Country club house.

MAN BROKE FAITH.

Officer of Revenue Service Sued for $10,000 for Breach of Promise.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Fannie Fohs, a Russian who lives in this city, has brought suit for $10,000 for a breach of promise against Lieut. Haines, of the revenue cutter Manning, now at Tacoma, Wash.

Mrs. Fohs met Lieut. Haines in San Francisco a year ago. She says she became engaged to him and that he persuaded her to spend the summer with his parents in Camden, N. J., while he was away with the Manning in Alaska. She did so and later came to New York and obtained a position as a cloak model to earn money with which to purchase her wedding trousseau. She says she received letters from him regularly while he was in Alaska and when he was due to return she went to Port Townsend to meet him. When he found her there he expressed a change of feeling, she says, and refused to marry her.

SOUTHERN PORTS ARE OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

Sunny South Now Produces 40 Per Cent of the Total Exports of the Country Although But 30 Per Cent of the Area.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—A suggestive reflection of the generally recognized importance of southern ports in American commerce is given in a study in this week's issue of the Manufacturers' Record of the imports and exports at those ports, together with the figures of their respective populations, in comparison with similar facts about other ports of the country. The south is now actually producing in the neighborhood of 40 per cent of the total exports of the country, although it embraces but about 30 per cent of the total area of the country and contains less than one-third of the population. During the past fiscal year, too, southern ports handled more than 25 per cent of the total exports of the country, while of the $38,418,613 increase in the value of exports over the preceding year $35,242,395 was at southern ports. It is thus seen that the south is doing much more per capita in the production of material for American commerce and in the handling of it than the rest of the country. When comparison is made of individual ports upon a similar basis, using the latest figures available of population, those of 1900, and of commerce, those of 1903, the striking exhibit of southern ports in comparison with those of the rest of the country is made.

Of the 17 typical ports, Galveston has the heaviest commerce per each of its inhabitants $2,793, followed by Newport News, $1,518; Savannah, $1,017; Brunswick, $948; Pensacola, $852; Wilmington, $727, and New Orleans $619. New York, with $827, is less than all of these and also less than Mobile, $836, and Portland, Maine, $778. San Francisco, with $204, is close to Norfolk's $200 and less than Tampa's $248 and Baltimore's $215. Of the selected ports, Charleston has the least weight in the south per inhabitant, $124, and Philadelphia the least in the rest of the country, $103, while Boston's $310 is less than the weight of eight southern ports.

To be sure, when it is borne in mind that comparatively little of the commerce actually originates in the ports which handle it, this per capita idea is merely suggestive. How suggestive it is, though, is apparent when it is realized that Savannah, with 54,000 inhabitants, has a commerce annually of $55,000,000, while Portland, Maine, with 50,000 inhabitants, has a commerce of $18,000,000; that New Orleans, with 287,000 inhabitants, has a commerce of $177,000,000, while Boston, with 560,000 inhabitants, has $3,000,000 less; that Charleston's weight per each inhabitant is greater than Philadelphia's, and that Galveston, with 37,000 inhabitants, does a foreign business of $103,-682,206, while New York, with 3,437,099 inhabitants, ninety times the population of Galveston, does $1,124,556,802 of foreign trade, less than eleven times as much as Galveston.

That many of these southern ports are destined to be of far greater importance is shown by the figures of their commerce during the past twenty years compared with those for other ports.

Between 1883 and 1903 the value of the exports and imports increased from $1,-547,020,316 to $2,445,889,552, or $898,869,-236, equal to 58 per cent. This rate of increase was exceeded by Newport News, which had an advance of 1,350 per cent; Pensacola, 905 per cent; Brunswick, 492 per cent; Mobile, 422 per cent; Galveston, 239 per cent; Wilmington, 207 per cent; Savannah, 126 per cent; and New Orleans, 89 per cent, of the southern ports, Tampa making an advance in 19 years of 677 per cent, and by two of the other ports—Philadelphia, which had an advance of 85 per cent, of Portland, 238 per cent. The rate of New York, which handled 55 per cent of the total commerce in 1883 and 46 per cent in 1903, was 31 per cent, which was exceeded by Baltimore's 57 per cent, and was slightly greater than Boston's 29 per cent. Two ports on the Atlantic coast and one on the Pacific—Charleston, Norfolk and San Francisco—showed a rate of decline of 70, 49 and 22 per cent, respectively.

These declining and the comparative slow rate of increase at some points have part explanation in the case of San Francisco, for instance, in the annexation of Hawaii, which excludes the trade between the ports and the new Territory from the category of foreign commerce; in the case of Norfolk in the barging of freight from terminals there to Newport News across Hampton Roads, and in the case of New York, Baltimore and Boston to the movement of the center of crop production farther west and to changes in the railroad situation in the Mississippi Valley and contiguous territory. These last two influences are largely responsible for the rise in importance of ports on the Gulf and South Atlantic coasts, railroad construction, with the development of great terminals at points which are to be the strategic ones in American commerce, having restored the flow of outward-bound commerce to its natural down-hill course. This flow, viewed by itself, makes a more striking exhibit for certain southern ports than do the figures for exports and imports combined. But an advance in the value of imports in 20 years of from $8,396,762 to $28,880,744 at New Orleans, from $15,-255 to $4,238,769 at Newport News, from $374,382 to $4,169,040 at Mobile, from $198,891 to $2,297,402 at Charleston, from $483,281 to $1,037,396 at Savannah, and from $186,251 to $307,744 at Norfolk is rather prophetic. The net 16 or 20 years, while not increasing the weight of commerce per each inhabitant of these natural distributors of commerce, will undoubtedly give them greater weight, as compared with older Atlantic coast ports especially, for the greater portion of the drainage area of the Mississippi and of the back country of the South Atlantic ports is the portion of the country yet to be developed.

Two fairly Good Producers Secured in Pine Grove Extension.

In the Salem district, in Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the Silas Fitro farm and will have a 20-barrel producer in the Gordon.

In the Pine Grove district, in Wetzel county, the same company has completed No. 6 on the Jesse Shuman farm and has a 20-barrel producer in the stray. The same company's test on the Pittman-Yeater farm, on the west side of the development, produced 97 barrels the first 24 hours after it was shot, but had settled down to 40 barrels at the end of 48 hours.

On the extreme western side of the Pine Grove extension the Southern Oil Company & Greenlee have completed a well on the Furbee heirs' farm and have a 45-barrel producer in the stray. This is the farthest southwest of any well on this farm and nearly due south of the old producer on the Lida Lemasters farm. In the same locality the South Penn Company is due in the sand at several important test wells.

In the Ankom district, Tyler county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the Christopher Hays farm through the Gordon and found that formation barren. A good gas pressure was developed in the stray. It is still drilling and will test the fifth sand.

On Polk creek, west of Weston, Lewis county, the South Penn Oil Company has made the location for a second test on the Snyder Bros.' farm. The first test on this farm is a small pumper in the fourth sand.

On Dents run, Mannington district, Marion county, the Carnegie Gas Company & Carnahan are drilling a test on the Nicholas Baker farm. On Buffalo creek, in the same district, the Freeland Oil Company has the rig completed for a test on the C. A. Prichard farm. On Campbells run, the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Oil & Gas Company has started to drill at its test on the Brimmage farm.

On the Ohio side, in the Lewisville district, in Monroe county, T. J. Vandergrift & Co. have drilled their No. 4 on the William Schaffer farm into the Keener sand and have a show for a 150-barrel producer in that formation. The location of this well is to the south of No. 2 on the same farm and shows a slight extension in that direction.

In the same district the second test on the G. M. Karr farm, owned by W. C. McBride & Co., is holding up at 125 barrels a day. This is the Big Lime producer that was drilled in last Tuesday.

In the Rich Fork district, in the same county, the Pure Oil Company has drilled in its No. 10 on the James Highman farm and has a show for an 8-barrel pumper in the Keener sand. In the same district H. J. Parker & Co. have completed No. 8 on the P. C. Moffit farm and will have a 5-barrel pumper in the same sand.

In the Wolf creek district, in Washington county, A. J. Lockard & Co. have completed their second test on the John Sheets farm and have a show for a good producer.

In the Chester Hill district, Morgan county, the Ohio & Indiana Oil Company has completed a second test on the J. M. Russell farm and has a 5-barrel pumper.

J. A. Henne & Co. have completed their No. 3 on the Isaac Perriance farm and have a duster in the shallow sand.

Near Scottown, Washington county, the McArthur Oil Company has completed a second test on the Frank Patton farm and has a very light show in the Big Injun sand. In the same district the Bullion Oil Company of Apollo has drilled its test on the L. Rinard farm into the Big Injun sand and has a show for a small pumper in that formation.

Near Jewett, Harrison county, the National Oil Company of Titusville has completed its No. 19 on the F. N. Donaldson farm and will have a 5-barrel pumper.

North of Undercliff, Allegheny county, the South Penn Oil Company's well on the Werts farm is flowing at the rate of 11 barrels an hour.

SAFETY IS ASSURED NEW YORK SUBWAY

Union Switch and Signal Company Is Awarded a Mammoth Contract.

NEW IDEAS PUT IN OPERATION

The largest contract ever given in the United States for switches, signals and safety appliances has just been awarded to the Union Switch and Signal Company of this city by the New York Rapid Transit Tunnel commission. The contract involves an expenditure of a third of a million dollars, and the manufacture and installation of the equipment will provide employment for at least 500 skilled men for an average period of six months. The work is to be completed and in operation by May of next year.

The Metropolitan subway will have the safest and most up-to-date system of switches, signals and safety devices in the world. When the various companies which handle such work were asked to submit propositions for equipping the tunnel railroad, they were informed that the principal end sought was safety, and that expense would be an ulterior consideration. Acting on this idea, the Union Switch & Signal Company experts evolved a system which was accepted on its merits in preference to those submitted by its competitors, and which, it is confidently asserted, will make accidents of the kind it is designed to prevent, absolutely impossible.

While it will contain features common to many systems now in operation, the subway equipment will have so many improvements, modifications of existing machinery and apparatus, and new devices, that it will, taken as a whole, have an individuality of its own. It will be known as the Westinghouse Electro-Pneumatic interlocking system of signal appliances, applied to several systems now in use, but it will really be a combination of this and other systems, each re-enforcing the others and adding something toward the attainment of perfect safety. Both electricity and compressed air will be used for power and an innovation regarding the former will be the substitution of the alternating current for the direct current now in general use. The electrical and pneumatic machinery and appurtenances are now being made at the Westinghouse plants at East Pittsburgh and Wilmerding. As fast as they are completed they are shipped to the switch and signal company's plant at Swissvale, where the remainder of the construction work will be done.

In the New York subway a system whose plan of operation will be exactly the opposite of that in use on 60 per cent of the railroad trackage of the United States will be installed and every part of it will have improvements not in use on the other 40 per cent. This does not mean in round terms that error and accident will add to safety, or that the errors and accidents referred to will be eliminated, but that the operation of the line will be so thoroughly safeguarded by mechanical means that only an almost impossible combination of errors and accidents will endanger the trains and passengers. Some switch and signal experts go so far as to assert that collisions on the subway railroad cannot be caused without criminal interference.

There will be 150 automatic block signals and train stops placed at intervals of 800 feet along the main lines of the subway. The signal operates in such a way that when a car or a train passes it, the danger signal is displayed against succeeding cars and trains until the train in advance passes the next block signal ahead by a margin in which a train may be stopped. As stated before, any failure of power or accident to the signal short of destroying it, prevents the display of all signals but the danger signal. But this does not give safety. The motorman or engineer may miss the danger signal or disobey it. The train stop now comes into play. It is a simple device, the stationary part of which is a T-shaped steel bar, operated by pneumatic power, and standing upright at the side of the track, about a foot from the outside rail. The bar is attached to a shaft which is connected with and moved by the mechanism of the block signal. While the danger signal is displayed from the block, the "T" stands upright, but when the danger signal is withdrawn, the "T" is bent down to a position horizontal with the rail, by pneumatic power, automatically applied by the operation of the signal.

Each car of the train is equipped with the other part of the train stop. It is a stout steel rod extending downward from the bottom of the car, and at a point directly in line with the center of the "T." This rod is connected in such a way with levers controlling the motive power and airbrakes, that if it is moved either backward or forward the power will be shut off from the motor and the compressed air released, applying the automatic brakes and stopping the train.

Hence if the danger signal is displayed and the engineer does not obey it, the rod extending down from the bottom of the car comes into collision with the "T," which throws it out of the vertical position and the train is stopped automatically.

The interlocking switches of the subway will be of the latest and most improved type. They will operate, wherever possible, in connection with the automatic signals and train stops. By their use every track or switch that is occupied, is barred against all other cars or trains. All the tracks of the subway will be embraced in the interlocking system, except those used for the storage of cars. When a switch is opened to admit a car or a train to the main line, all other switches leading into that main line block—that is, the space between the block signals on either side of the switch to be used, are automatically locked and cannot be opened until the block is clear. The opening of the switch displays the danger signal against cars in the direction from which trains may be expected.

In the yards away from main tracks, when switching is being done, no train but the one at work may get to the tracks and switches in use, as all switches leading to them are automatically closed and locked.

The subway switches and signals to be controlled by operators will be governed by 250 levers, distributed among 30 stations. These stations will be located principally in yards at terminals and at junction points. Wherever possible they will be operated in connection with and be controlled by the automatic system.

The preparation of the plans for the subway work required the services of more than half of the switch and signal company's engineering corps. Two hundred and fifty shop employes are making the switches, frogs, signals and other apparatus, and an equal number of men will be employed in installing the finished work. In addition, the work being done at the Westinghouse plants will give employment to many hands.

The Union Switch & Signal Company's plant at Swissvale is the largest of the kind in the United States. It will be enlarged by one-half, probably in the very near future. The plant enjoys what probably is a unique distinction. In all the score or more years that it has been in operation it has never been idle on a working day. At the present time, when there is a dullness in almost every branch of industry, this concern has enough orders on hand to keep it in full operation for the next eight months. These orders include signal tower equipment, for which 900 levers will be required.

The above is a reproduction of the striking cover design for the Christmas number of Ainslie's Magazine. The border, which is green and gold, makes an exceptionally pretty effect.

RIVERMEN WANT SNOW.

Plenty of It and a Few Warm Days Would Bring Up Stage of Water.

Snow and plenty of it gladdens the heart of the riverman. More water is needed, and a few warm days would swell the rivers if the ground was well covered with snow. The Davis Island dam was put up yesterday and the water slowly filled the harbor, which was getting low. Towboats coming up the Ohio have to tie up at Sewickley. The Exporter arrived there last night with a tow of empties, and the Tornado helped in the Fred Wilson with a tow. The Raymond Horner left Cincinnati yesterday with a tow of empties for Pittsburgh. She had a new cylinder put in before leaving.

TOWN MARSHAL SLAIN.

Posse Now Searching for the Murderer Who Will Be Lynched If Captured.

FAIRMOUNT, IND., Nov. 26.—James K. Payne, town marshal was shot and killed this afternoon by Harry Hooper whom he arrested for burglary. Hooper also fired twice at Alonzo Thomas, who started to assist the dying marshal. Both shots missed.

Hooper after killing the marshal moved slowly down the street, holding back the gathering crowd with his revolver and reaching the edge of town, started toward Van Buren. Stores were closed and armed business men started in pursuit. Others have prepared for a lynching should he be brought back.

PURSE WAS NOT FOUND.

Woman Created Excitement in Railroad Station by Accusing Italians.

While waiting at the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie station last evening, a well-dressed woman lost a pocketbook and caused considerable excitement by accusing two Italians, near whom she had been sitting. The men were searched, but the property was not found on either of them.

The Italians gave the name of Ralph Grant and Lewis Polius. They were arrested on a charge of being suspicious persons. They claimed to be laborers en route from Lawrenceville to Bellevernon. Each carried a revolver.

Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Money, 2¼@4 per cent. The rate of discount for short bills is 4⅛ per cent. The rate of discount for three months' bills is 4⅛@4⅛ per cent. Consols for money, 86⅞; consols for account, 86 15-16. Money in the market today was in strong demand for stock exchange requirements. The continued fall in New York exchange again hardened discounts.

Operators on the stock exchange were attending principally to the conclusion of the settlement, though a fair business was transacted, and the general tone was fairly strong.

Consols were firm in spite of the stiffness of the rate for money. House rails were dull, the traffic returns not being encouraging and more capital issues being rumored, including preference stock by the Northwestern railroad. They closed with a firm tone. American rails opened quiet and irregular and improved fractionally, but there was no disposition to do business owing to the New York stock exchange being closed. Prices closed steady. Canadians were dull. Kaffirs were strong and there was a fair amount of trading in these stocks.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Prices on the bourse today were firmer.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Business on the bourse today was active. Internationals were in strong demand at first but later they became more calm. Industrials were firm and active. The closing was firm at the close were calm. The private rate of discount was 2 15-16 per cent.

Killed His Children and Self.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Thomas Markiewicz, a young tailor, in the presence of hundreds of persons, threw his two children, aged respectively 3 and 5 years, on the rails before an approaching train at a suburban station at midnight and leaped after them. All three were killed. Markiewicz's wife died on Monday, which is supposed to have led to the tragedy.

Mrs. Ayer to Be Cremated.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—The funeral of Mrs. Harriet Hubbard Ayer, who died at her home, No. 70 West Forty-sixth street, after a short attack of pneumonia, will be held in Trinity church at noon tomorrow. The services will be conducted by the Rev. J. H. Steele. The body will be cremated here and the interment will follow in Graceland cemetery, Chicago.

O'Brien Out of Irish Politics.

DUBLIN, Nov. 26.—William O'Brien, in a letter to John Redmond, the Irish leader, while acknowledging the sincerity of the recent resolutions of the Irish parliamentary party and the directory of the United Irish league, declines to withdraw his resignation as a member of parliament for Cork city or to resume his connection with Irish politics.

Cigarmakers Strike in Porto Rico.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Nov. 26.—There are indications that 1,000 more cigar makers will go out on strike tomorrow at different points on the island.

CRANKS WRITE LETTERS TO CHIEF EXECUTIVE

New York Police Send Two to Bellevue for Observation.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Two men, supposed to be cranks, are under arrest in this city for writing letters to President Roosevelt. Both are in Bellevue under observation as to their sanity.

One of them is Kalman Fodesey, 38 years old, of Brooklyn. He is a watchmaker and came to this country from Buda Pesth, Hungary, two years ago. For some time he has been writing letters to President Roosevelt, chiefly about police officials of Buffalo, and an investigation was begun by secret men a week or 10 days ago. While he was in a newspaper office telling a rambling story the secret service department was notified and took Fodesey in charge. A ten-page typewritten letter addressed to the president was found in his possession. The Oak street station to which he was taken, sent him to Bellevue.

Charles Thiesen, who said he lived at 21 Bowery was arraigned before Magistrate Mayo in the Essex Market court today charged with being a disorderly person. He has been writing letters to President Roosevelt, complaining that an influential person in government circles in Washington has an electric battery which is attached to the soles of his feet and militates against his chances of seeing the president. He was sent to Bellevue. Thiesen has a record with the secret service men. According to Chief Operator Flynn he was arrested in Washington in January, 1901, for trying to see President McKinley, and was arrested in Baltimore on January 6 last for insisting on seeing President Roosevelt. On the first occasion he was declared a lunatic by experts, but procured his discharge through the influence of relatives.

ALMOST RIOT IN HUNGARIAN DIET

When Premier Tried to Speak He Was Insulted by Member.

SCUFFLE FORCED SUSPENSION

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, Nov. 26.—Scenes of indescribable confusion marked today's session of the lower house of the Diet. They originated in the proposal to hold two sessions daily. The members of the extreme left vehemently protested and several of them were suspended for disorderly conduct by the president, who was the recipient of many insulting epithets. Finally the premier, Count Tisza, attempted to speak. He called attention to the agreement between the different parties on rules of procedure.

"You have put all the advantages of that agreement in your pocket," shouted Nicolas Partha.

"Better not speak of pockets," retorted county Tisza, whereupon Partha shouted: "I am not a broken bank director."

Deputy Gajary added to the disorder by jeeringly shouting to Count Tisza: "You have been called a scoundrel."

Immediately there was a rush of deputies towards Gajary, causing a scene of wild tumult and scuffling. As a free fight was threatened the sitting was suspended. On the resumption of business Count Tisza appealed to the patriotism of the opposition, pointing out the dangers to the constitution from a policy of obstruction. Later, when the president of the house again mentioned the motion in favor of two, the disturbance broke out again and the house definitely adjourned amid scenes of the greatest excitement.

WANT IMPROVEMENTS.

Denmark Admits That There Is Dissatisfaction in Her West Indian Possessions.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 26.—The government officials deny the reports published abroad of a revolutionary movement in the Danish West Indies in consequence of dissatisfaction with the commission's recommendations on the subject of improvements in the islands.

That dissatisfaction exists is admitted, and it is recognized that the prosperity of the new republic of Panama will conceivably so impress the inhabitants of the Danish West Indies as to strengthen the latent desire in some quarters to come under the American flag.

The departure of the new governor of St. Thomas for his post was hastened in hope that fuller explanations of the commission's report might lessen the dissatisfaction, and so that the government might, at the earliest possible moment, be in full possession of the situation. The government fully realizes the great difficulty of legislating and helping the islands to their satisfaction.

EIGHT TONS OF RELIGIOUS MATTER FOR AUSTRALIA

Instructive Reading Sent From Here to Help Convert the People of the Antipodes.

Eight tons of printed matter bound for Australia were sent out Wednesday by the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Allegheny. The heavy load of religious reading was put on the Pennsylvania railroad here, and will first go to Philadelphia, from where it will be transported to the antipodes by the Transatlantic Steamship Company. Yesterday's cargo consisted of bibles, maps, tracts, concordances, illuminated scripture texts and other matter, which it took four weeks to prepare. It will be distributed from Melbourne. Over a ton of mail matter and about two tons of freight go from the Bible house daily. It is printed in seven languages—English, German, French, Norwegian, Swedish and Italian. Pastor C. T. Russell, head of the Bible house, will preach in Allegheny Carnegie hall the first four Sundays in December on the following subjects: "Great Jubilees," "Jewish and Gospel Parallels," "The Times of the Gentiles" and "The Character of God's Kingdom."

POLES MAKE A SCENE IN A GERMAN COURT

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Never before has a Berlin court room seen such scenes as these which took place when Countess Kwilecka was acquitted of trying to palm off a false heir to the vast Kwilecka estates. Hundreds of Poles, countrymen and sympathizers of the accused countess, as soon as the words "not guilty" had been pronounced by the foreman of the jury, jumped to their feet, shouting and throwing their hats into the air. For nearly 10 minutes the court officers were unable to restore order, while the judge, pale with rage, kept on pounding his desk with his gavel.

Countess Kwilecka was the only cool person in court. She has ever, since the beginning of the sensational process a month ago, shown that she possesses nerves of steel. The open square in front of the court building was filled with a surging sea of Poles, who literally swept the Berlin police off their feet, and one can only guess at what would have happened had the countess not been acquitted. The Polish press has systematically excited their countrymen into a deadly hatred of everything Prussian and had Countess Isabella been found guilty it would have surprised no one to see barricades thrown up in the streets around the court. Never before has the people of Berlin realized how dangerous the Polish element is even in this city. The government is exceedingly dissatisfied with the result of the trial and Public Prosecutor Muller who was transferred to Elberfeld for an improper attempt to influence the jury, in declaring in his speech to the jury that a verdict of acquittal would give its death blow to trial by jury in German has tendered his resignation.

Countess Isabella today showed early callers 200 congratulatory telegrams and a letter written to her lawyer by Count Hector Kwilecka, a member of the Reichstag, who with his father, Count Mielislaw Kwilecka, a member of the Prussian house of lords, was the prime mover in the prosecution, contesting, as next of kin, the legitimacy of the countess's son the day before the case closed, admitting that the accusation was unfounded.

The countess declared that her greatest deprivation was the lack of a mirror. The authorities also forbade the reception of Polish newspapers or conversation in Polish with her son on the four occasions she was allowed to see him. The countess, after settling the affairs of the estate will return here and live in Berlin, declaring she loves this city and its people, in spite of her imprisonment.

AMERICAN MARINES LEAVE SAN DOMINGO

Victorious Revolutionists Have Guaranteed Safety for All Persons.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The end of the San Domingan revolution is officially recorded in a cablegram received at the state department today from Minister Powell dated yesterday. The minister reports that all was quiet, that the president, Wos y Gilo, and the cabinet were to leave for Cuba.

The Newport had withdrawn her marines from the city of San Domingo. The revolutionary party guaranteed order and safety for all persons. The election for a president to succeed the deposed Wos y Gilo will take place in three months.

The Baltimore which went from San Domingo to San Juan for coal probably will not return to the first named port, but will come north to Newport News to be inspected before joining the Atlantic squadron according to the original plan.

SAN DOMINGO, Nov. 26.—The act of capitulation which was signed Tuesday last by President Wos y Gilo and the ministers of the United States, Belgium, Hayti and Spain, calls for the holding of elections within three months and the installation of the new president on February 27. A decree issued yesterday makes all dues payable in cash. Former Ministers Bruche and Peebles left this afternoon for Cuba. Gen. Wos y Gilo will it is expected, leave in a few days for Curacao.

SWINDLER SENTENCED.

Man Who Defrauded American Bankers Gets Fifteen Months in Prison.

BREMEN, Nov. 26.—(Special Cable.)—The supreme court today sentenced the notorious international swindler Count Nicholas Toulous-Lautrec to 15 months in state prison for attempted blackmailing and swindling.

The count, whose claim to a title is shrouded in mystery, is known to bankers all over the world. Some years ago he returned here from the United States after a very checkered career there. He is said to have swindled Brown Brothers of New York and the Crocker-Woolworth National bank of San Francisco out of several thousand dollars. His specialty was to forge letters of credit, though he occasionally would stoop to blackmailing. In this city he recently raised several thousands marks from money lenders and merchants pretending that he was engaged to an American heiress.

Want Better Police Protection.

Owing to the many holdups in North Versailles township the residents have started a movement to have the township organized into a borough, so that the district will have police protection. During the last two weeks 10 men have been held up, robbed and beaten at the East Pittsburgh station on the Pennsylvania railroad, opposite North Braddock. The latest holdup occurred Wednesday midnight, when James Holleran of Oakhill was badly beaten and robbed of $68 by two men while on his way home.

LIVELY THANKSGIVING IN BOWERY SALOON

One Man Shot and Another Dies from Resulting Excitement.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—As the result of an early Thanksgiving jollification Daniel O'Connor, 35, a waiter, is dead, Joseph Miller, 28, is in the Hudson street hospital suffering from two bullet wounds in the cheek and James Cunningham, 23, is a prisoner in the Oak street police station.

The row occurred in a saloon at No. 19 Bowery. Miller and Cunningham got into an argument and the latter drew a revolver and fired two shots. Both struck Miller. Cunningham was captured two blocks from the saloon. After the excitement was over O'Connor, who had seen the shooting, retired to the rear room of the saloon and sat down. Later the bartenders found him dead. Dr. Higgins of the hospital said his death was probably due to excitement.

A peculiar feature of the case is that a man was discovered dead in the same chair in this saloon two months ago. The saloon is what is known on the Bowery as a "morgue." It is a place where five cent whisky is served, and the customers are principally the poorer class of men out of work or Bowery regulars who have no desire to work.

HEAVY SENTENCES FOR THREE TRAIN WRECKERS

STAUNTON, VA., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Elleb Bailey today was found guilty of planning the wreck which occurred on the Norfolk & Western railroad at Greenville last December. The jury fixed her punishment at 10 years in the penitentiary. Her son, James Bailey, and Joseph Kennedy have been convicted of wrecking the train. Bailey was condemned to serve 18 years. Kennedy was declared guilty of murder in the first degree.
